WASHINGTON LETTER.

(From Our Regular Correspondent.)

Washington, April 1, 1901. President McKinley is delighted with the recent news from the Philippines, including the gallant and daring capture of Aguinaldo, by Gen. Fred Funston and the continued surrender of Filipino officers and men as well as the rapid progress of the establishing of civil government in the various provinces by the Taft commission. It looks as though peace and prosperity were ahead of the Philippines, and that both would come much sooner than the most sanguine would have predicted a few weeks ago. President McKinley promptly assured Senator Burton and Representatives Curtis and Long, of Kansas, that Gen. Funston's good work should be rewarded, and as promptly made him a Brigadier General in the regular army, although that action on the part of the President did not meet the approval of some of the army fossils who say that Gen. Funston is too young to be a Brigadier General in the regular army—he is only 35. The answer to that argument is that Funston earned his commission as Brigadier General of Volunteers by his bravery and gallantry, and that now he has earned a similar commission as a regular; what a man is old enough to earn, he is old enough to have. To properly reward him was to encourage future Funstons to perform gallant deeds when the occasion for them arises.

Much clap-trap has been sent from Washington about the President and Cabinet having been deceived by Aguinaldo. Nothing could be further from the truth. There has been no worry and no occasion for any. Aguinaldo is a prisoner of war and as such is likely to receive the same kind of treatment given others from time to time captured. Whether he will be allowed to recover his liberty by taking the oath of allegiance to the U. S. or will be kept in confinement in the Philippines or elsewhere, will depend largely upon future recommendations, made by our military authorities in the Philippines, and those recommendations will doubtless be influenced by the attitude of Aguinaldo himself toward American rule on the islands. There is nothing in the situation to cause any worry in Washington, or elsewhere.

It is insinuated that the President and Secretary Root were not disposed to give Gen. Funston proper credit for capturing Aguinaldo, is fully answered by Funston's promotion, and by the following cablegram sent to Gen. MacArthur, by Adjutant General Corbin: "The President instructs me to express his high appreciation of the gallant conduct of Gen. Funston and of the officers and men of the army and navy engaged with him in the Philippine expedition. The Secretary of War personally joins in this expression."

It is very confidently expected by the President and Secretary Root, that the improved conditions in the Philippines will make it unnecessary to recruit the army to the full strength authorized by Congress. No orders will be issued to stop the recruiting of new recruits, but the President and the Secretary of War are fully determined that no more men shall be recruited than are considered absolutely necessary, under the conditions, and both will be extremely gratified if the total of the army can be kept far below the maximum fixed by Congress. Neither wishes for a large army unless it is necessary.

Judge Boyd, of N. C., former assistant Attorney General, who was in Washington when the news of the collapse of the attempt to impeach the judges of the Supreme Court of the United States was received. Speaking of the matter, Judge Boyd said: "There could have been no other honest verdict. There was never any ground of impeachment in the first place, but the places of the judges were vacated, and it was then that they could be ousted by impeachment proceedings. What seems strange to me is that the trial did not attract more attention. It had been a most important matter of judges of any court state in the Union, there would have been columns of the story printed with pictures of the judges, of the senators who formed the court, and of the principal lawyers in the case. There were many interesting and even dramatic features in the trial."

The entire exhibit of the Post Office department, which will be the largest and most complete ever shown, is now on display at the Pan American Exposition has been shipped to Buffalo. Mr. C. B. Orent, of Elizabeth, N. J., President of the Newport News Ship Building Company, who is in Washington for the purpose of signing a contract with the Navy department for constructing the Charleston, which is to replace the cruiser of that name wrecked in the Philippines, speaking of the great prosperity of the ship-building industry, said: "The total ships under construction in our yards will represent a cost of nearly $28,000,000 when completed. About one-third of this, or $9,000,000, will be for the construction of the Charleston, and the other two-thirds are for the government. The Korea, building for the Pacific Mail Co., which was recently successfully launched, is the largest merchant vessel ever constructed in this country. Her sister ship, the Siberia, should be ready for launching in about two months. The ships we now have under construction are the battleships Illinois and Missouri, one sheathed battleship, two armored cruisers, one protected cruiser and the monitor Arkansas. In addition to the two Pacific mail steamers, we are building four destroyers for the Morgan line. We are now employing 6,800 men, and before many days we shall have 7,000 on the rolls."

MOTHERHOOD

Is a natural instinct which shows itself in the girl as soon as she is big enough to play the mother to her doll. Unfortunately the womanly heart does not always keep pace with the motherly instinct, and when real motherhood comes it often comes to mothers who suffer intently during maternity and who are unable to nurse the weakling child which frets and moans in their arms.

Motherhood is prepared for and provided for by the use of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It cures nausea, tranquilizes the nerves, gives a healthy appetite and promotes restful sleep. It makes the baby's advent practically painless, and gives the mother abundant strength to nurse her child.

Accept no substitute for "Favorite Prescription." There is nothing "just as good" for weak and sickly women.

"Two years ago I was very sick and began taking your 'Favorite Prescription,' writes Mrs. E. Hackett, of Chardon, Geauga Co., Ohio. 'When my baby boy came he weighed twelve pounds and a half. I have had good health ever since, until about three weeks ago, when weaning my baby, I contracted a heavy cold. Am taking your 'Golden Medical Discovery.' I am thankful that poor sufferers have such a grand chance to regain their health by using Dr. Pierce's medicine. It has done in our family, and in a great many more families under my observation."

"I thank you for your kind medical advice," Dr. Pierce's Medical Adviser in paper covers is sent free on receipt of 21 cents in one-cent stamps to pay expense of mailing only. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

BOARD OF ALDERMEN.

Strong Appeal of Auburndale Residents Who Desire a New School Building.

Franchise for Tracks on Boylston Street Modified—Appropriation For Playground at Cabot Park.

The meeting of the board of aldermen last Monday night was the most interesting session of the year, and Aldermen Brown, Chesley, Ensign, Fisher, Hubbard, Hutchinson, Lothrop, Lowe, Lyman, Mellen, Norris, Pond, Pulsifer, Saltonstall, Stickney, Trowbridge, Weed and Weldon, were present with President Baily in the chair.

A hearing was immediately announced upon the matter of school accommodations at Auburndale.

Mr. Geo. M. Fiske was the first speaker, and said in substance that the Williams school building was 18 years old, and on a narrow lot, surrounded by trees on private property which shut off the light. A high gravel bank at the rear, which would have to be seized for the proposed addition, entailed a law suit, and expense for removal of gravel. It is located on the extreme outskirts of the village which has already suffered from the original mistake in placing it there. There are 150 houses in the district nearer the Williams school as against 400 nearer the Ash street lot. In the last 10 years about 34 houses have been erected in the Williams district to 149 in the Ash street district. It would emphasize the original mistake to add to the Williams building and the four new rooms would be immediately filled, with no allowance for future growth.

The Ash street lot is ample, with plenty of light, air, and room for playgrounds, and its prominent location will add to the looks of the village. Mr. Fiske submitted figures comparing Newton Centre with Auburndale and while willing to concede a building to Newton Centre, objected to doing so, with a temporary makeshift for Auburndale.

As to the financial question Mr. Fiske argued that the recommendation of the committee was practically $35,000, and submitted letters from architects giving figures of $40,000 for a new 8 room building, and concluded by asking the board for such a structure.

Mr. Frederick Johnson did not believe it economy to throw $30,000 away on an old building, for a few years only, and quoted Mr. E. B. Haskell as advocating a delay if it was impossible to have a new building at the present time.

Mr. L. Bridgman said he was personally interested in the proposed addition would affect his property, but aside from that he believed the financial question to be the only one under consideration. Mr. Fiske's figures are complete, and the health of the children is an important factor. He believed that the proposed addition for the Williams school would be a "chronic" for Auburndale, while other districts were receiving oil paintings. He thought it economy for city to incur the expense of a new building now, and that justice demanded that the children should have good light, fixtures, teachers and surroundings.

Dr. E. E. Strong endorsed Mr. Fiske's arguments.

Dr. S. W. Dike believed the arguments were conclusive in favor of a new building on the north side.

Mr. F. M. Tyler was in favor of the north side, and called attention to the architectural effect of the proposed addition.

A letter from Geo. W. Blodgett in favor of the proposed addition was read by the clerk.

Mr. J. F. Ryder believed it a matter of justice to Auburndale to build a new school on Ash street, and called attention to the time taken by children in going to and from school.

Mr. W. K. Chandler believed it a hardship for children to walk to the Williams school.

Mr. P. A. McVear thought it unwise to spend money on the Williams school.

In reply to questions from Aldermen Hutchinson Mr. Fiske stated that he did not know the seating capacity of the Auburndale schools, that he believed the Williams school building to be in fairly good condition; that he did not know positively if any children had been expelled from school on account of lack of accommodations; that he was aware that the school board had not asked for a new building, and that he believed the hearing represented 10 tons of the feeling of Auburndale.

Alderman Hutchinson then said that it was the purpose of the conference committee to provide school accommodations in every district as far as possible, and the only question was as to the immediate needs, and asked Mr. Fiske if Auburndale would be justified in asking for a new building, before other districts with greater necessities had been relieved. Mr. Fiske replied that Auburndale should not deny other districts but its needs are great, and the proposed addition will only meet immediate needs. He made no definite reply to the question of Alderman Hutchinson, inquiring whether Auburndale would wait a year or so for a new building.

W. K. Chandler and J. F. Ryder called attention to the fact that children were not promoted on account of lack of room.

Mr. F. E. Morse believed it a sound business proposition to give Auburndale a new school.

Alderman Hutchinson stated that the committee had endeavored to handle the matter in a business way and recognize the needs of Auburndale. But facts and figures in possession of the committee show that the needs of other districts are more pressing.

Mr. A. L. Gordon thought the Ash street school over crowded.

Alderman Fisher stated that there were 70 seats vacant in the Williams building and 23 in the Ash street building and asked Mr. Fiske where the children were coming from to immediately fill the proposed addition of four rooms.

Mr. Bridgman and Mr. Fiske called attention to the illegal use of a room in the 3rd floor of the Ash street building, and Alderman Fisher said that this room was only used occasionally for recreation purposes.

Mr. Wm. Fuller said the Ash street building was unsuitable for school purposes.

At 9:07 o'clock the hearing was closed and all papers relating to the matter was referred to the public property committee.

JURORS.

POOL TABLE LICENSE.

The favorable report of the license committee on petition of Sanderson & Poley to keep 3 pool tables, Walnut street, Ward 5, was temporarily tabled, during Alderman Mellen's absence from the room, and was vigorously assailed when he again presented to the board. Mr. Mellen stated that the report was not unanimous, and that the best sentiment of Newton Highlands was opposed to granting the license. There is one pool room now, a legacy of the old Highlands club and there is not room for two places. One will be driven out of business, and it would mean only one more place for young men to loaf and spend money. He believed the petition in aid of the license had been signed under pressure, and while he had a high opinion of the Old Fellows who owned the building, he said they had bought the property at a low price and with full knowledge of the facts.

Alderman Weldon said the committee had passed the license in good faith, and that it will expire by the end of the month. The petitioners are Newton residents while the present licensee lives in Boston.

Alderman Lowe said the Old Fellows had purchased the property, and both the petitioners are Past Grand of the lodge which consisted of 160 men. The board had no business to consider the question of competition if the petitioners were responsible men and would run the place. Alderman Pond did not believe the matter of competition should be considered by the board.

Alderman Lothrop opposed the license and did not have a high opinion of pool rooms. He believed Alderman Mellen's wishes should be respected. Alderman Mellen said a remonstrance would have been largely signed but did not suppose the word would be doubted as to the sentiment of the village. His motion to table the report was then carried. Alderman Pond being excused from voting in order to pair with Alderman Lyman.

Alderman Lyman, Alderman Weed, Chesley, Fisher, Hubbard, Hutchinson, Lothrop, Mellen, Saltonstall, Stickney, and Trowbridge, voting aye, 10; Aldermen Ensign, Lowe, Norris, Pulsifer, Weed and Weldon voting no. Aldermen Weed, Wardwell, Pond, Lyman and Bixby absent or not voting.

BOYLSTON STREET LOCATION.

Alderman Baily's motion to suspend the rules to consider reconsideration of the order granting a location on Boylston street to the Boston & Worcester Street Railway Company was adopted, after he had stated that his purpose was to suggest an amendment, Section 6, so as to relieve the company from constructing the macadam surface of the roadway.

Alderman Baily believed this concession would relieve the company of about $38,000 expense, was justified by the advantages to be secured to the city by the development of the territory, and that it was not necessary for the city at the present time to remove the road. The company had been delayed in securing releases for the widening and this amendment would allow them more time. Mr. Baily said that the company had first suggested a contribution of $50,000 to the city to be built by them in place of Section 6, but were now willing to accept the location upon the terms offered them in 1899. If this amendment is carried the responsibility for the possible loss of the road will rest on the abutters and not on the city.

The grant was then reconsidered, and Alderman Baily's amendment to Section 6 of the order granting a location on Boylston street to the Boston & Worcester Street Railway Company was adopted, after he had stated that his purpose was to suggest an amendment, Section 6, so as to relieve the company from constructing the macadam surface of the roadway.

THE COUSENS' BEQUEST.

Extraordinary interest has developed in consequence of the announcement that Mr.
Horace Cousens had left the bulk of his property to the City of Newton for charitable purposes. As will be seen by the statement in our news columns, the bequest is not operative, as far as the city is concerned, until the death of the immediate family, but the disposition of Mr. Cousens as shown by his will is a cause of great gratification to all our citizens.This is the first bequest, to our knowledge, on lines similar to the Kenrick fund of $5000 established about 75 years ago by John Kenrick with the hope that it would be gradually increased until a respectable sum was realized for "the needy, industrious poor" of Newton.This project thanks to Mr. Cousens now seems on its way to a fulfillment which will undoubtedly surprise its author, and by which many worthy persons will receive untold benefit.

HIGH SCHOOL BATTALION.

ANNUAL INDOOR DRILL HELD LAST SAT-URDAY—OCCASION ONE OF GREAT IN-TEREST—MUCH ADMIRATION FOR YOUNG SOLDIERS."Embryonic Funstons, every mother's son of them," was the observation of a kindly looking old gentleman, as the members of the Newton High school battalion marched out upon the floor at the annual indoor drill held in the drillshed at Newtonville last Saturday afternoon.These sentiments were echoed by every one of the group who overheard the remark, and throughout the hall there was the same spirit of deep admiration for the young men in the natty blue uniforms and caps.One of the biggest audiences that the drillshed has ever contained looked upon the maneuvers, heard the music and applauded most enthusiastically. It was a day that young men and women had the self same feeling of pride for "N. H. S.", forgetting class rivalry and aiming to press the visitors with the good points of the battalion.And the spectators were impressed. As a military body, they voted, it would be hard to accuse the Newton boys in any surrounding city. Capt. E. R. Springer, the drill master, they believed, should be warmly congratulated.The battalion members made a splendid appearance. The tactics as carried out were not only satisfactory, but commanded every one's attention. Particularly in the junior and senior competitions there was much interest.It would indeed be difficult to describe the afternoon's events and forget the band.
Aided by several musicians from Technology, the school band was quite itself again, even though the parts of its old admirers together with the praise of those who had never heard it.None but experts like the judges, Lieut.
Col. G. H. Benyon, Maj. M. D. Clement and Lieut. Chas. Stearns could have decided who in both competitions were entitled to prizes. It seemed to the ordinary observer that both squads were in perfect training.However, the judges found material for discrimination, and at the close of the evening parade, chairman Frank T. Benner of the school board awarded the prizes to the most deserving.In the junior squad competition the Howard medal was presented private C. P.
Lyford, while privates Walter Cary and Richard Gray received honorable mention.
In the senior squad competition for the Fiske medal Corporal Corning Bentley was the successful one while Corp. Richard Ashenden and Priv. Richard Gray came in for honorable mention.The afternoon was brought to a close under the direction of John G. Mudge, Jr. and G. C. Agry, R. S. Tolman and A. L.
Harwood, Jr.

If this rule were heeded it would not be long before managers would find it did not pay to degrade the theatre.

KATAHDIN CLUB BANQUET.

LARGE GATHERING OF MEMBERS AT THE HUNNEWELL CLUBHOUSE GREATLY ENJOYED ON MONDAY EVENING.

There was everything in speech and story to call to mind the Pine Tree State when more than 200 of its sons and daughters gathered at the banquet of the Katahdin club in the Hunnewell Club house, on Monday evening. Forming a conspicuous and brilliant feature of the table decorations was Maine's new flag, a pine tree on a field of buff with a single blue star in the upper left hand corner. This was printed on the menu and, as was suggested by President of the club, proved its first public appearance hereabouts.

Following the demolition of good things there was a business meeting at which these officers were elected: D. C. Heath, president; E. M. Springer, Mrs. G. B. King and Mrs. F. E. Stanley, vice-presidents; George Agry, Jr., director, and Miss Emma E. Walker, secretary.

A letter was read from Col. Boothby, chairman of the Portland, Me., board of trade, who asked that a delegate be sent from Newton to represent this city at the Old Home Week exercises in Portland, Aug. 11. Mr. F. E. Stanley was chosen.

It was expected that Gen. Joshua L. Chamberlain, ex-Governor of Maine; Gen. A. P. Martin of Boston and Mayor Edward L. Pickard of Newton would speak, but they were unable to be present, and sent letters of regret, which were read by the toastmaster, Pres. D. C. Heath.

Mr. Edward Stanwood, managing editor of the Youth's Companion, was the first speaker and gave an interesting address on "Early Maine Newspapers." He was followed by Mr. Frank L. Dingley, editor of the Lewiston Journal, who gave a talk on "My Newspaper Experiences."

The Boston Women's Symphony Orchestra, of which Miss Agnes B. Trowbridge of Newton is treasurer, will give a concert in Copley Hall, Boston, next Tuesday evening at 8 o'clock. A fine program is being prepared.

HIGH SCHOOL RE-UNION.

GATHERING OF ALUMNI IN THE ASSEMBLY HALL MONDAY EVENING PROVED AN ENJOYABLE OCCASION.

Classes as far back as '92 were represented at the high school reunion in the Assembly hall of the high school building Monday evening. There was a shade of disappointment because of the non-performance of the play "Trying It On," but the illness of Mr. Arthur W. Hollis, cast for the leading part, made it impossible.

The gathering was one of the largest and proved to be the jolliest in the history of the alumni and the program furnished by the following was warmly received: Mrs. Harry L. Burrage '94, Miss Mary A. Hollings '96, Miss Josephine Martin '96, Mr. Charles F. Johnson Jr. '98, Mr. Augustus L. Wakefield '93, and Mr. Hubert L. Carter '94.

There was a cordial address of welcome delivered by Head Master Enoch C. Adams of the high school and the hearty reply of the alumni came in a spontaneous burst of applause.

The officers chosen were: Albert P. Carter '90 president, Mrs. Harry L. Burrage '94 vice-president, and Mr. Arthur W. Tarbell secretary and treasurer.

Dancing was enjoyed from 10 to 12 in the school drill shed.

The success of the affair was largely due to a competent committee of which President Henry Whitmore '86 was chairman.

Police Paragraphs.

The Italian shanty at Woodland was entered some time last Saturday night by thieves, who carried off a suit of clothes and $35, which they secured by breaking open a trunk.

Mr. W. D. Brewer reported to the police Tuesday that boys had entered his tool shop on Elm street and carried off considerable valuable property. A thorough investigation is being made.

Johnnie McBride, an Auburndale boy, who, it will be remembered, was sentenced to the Lyman school at Westboro last fall by this court, and who escaped from that institution, was arrested last Friday in Schenectady, N. Y., on suspicion of having taken part in a number of burglaries there.

The Newton police were communicated with and Chief Tarbo notified the Lyman school authorities. Later the young fellow was taken from Schenectady to Westboro.

A civil service examination for patrolmen will be held on May 14th. Applications can be obtained from J. C. Brimblecom, 16 Centre Place, Newton.

HUNNEWELL CLUB.

Hon. H. E. Hibbard has loaned the club a fine picture entitled "To the Fishers" by F. M. Dumond of Paris, and which will be hung in the smoking room.

The House Committee have arranged for an informal dance on the evening of April 17th, for which music will be furnished by the Boston Cadet Orchestra.

The Whist Committee is arranging for a spring tournament for pairs, the entries closing on April 20th.

The winners at duplicate whist last Saturday night were: H. G. Lapham, and R. G. Howard, with 3 plus; G. E. Hatch and C. W. Loring were second with 2 1/2 plus; the other players finishing above the average were J. A. Lord and G. W. Crosby, 1-2 plus.

Concert.

A concert will be given by the Harvard Glee Club and the Harvard Banjo and Mandolin Clubs under the auspices of the Immanuel auxiliary at the Hunnewell Club on the evening of Thursday, April 25th, at 8 o'clock, in aid of the Immanuel Baptist church.

These Harvard musical organizations are always very popular and it is expected that a very enjoyable entertainment will be given.

Tickets may be had at one dollar each by written application enclosing the money to Mr. John H. Harwood, Ivanhoe street.

Seats will be assigned in the order the applications are received and if there are any seats remaining Saturday, April 20, they will be placed on sale at Hubbard's drug store. As the seating capacity of the hall is limited and the demand for seats is likely to be large, those desiring to attend are advised to send in applications at once.

Dance of Street Railway Men.

The members of Garden City Mutual Aid Association held their third annual ball in Armory hall on Monday evening. The organization is composed of employees of the Newton & Boston, the Wellesley & Boston and the Commonwealth avenue lines, and has as its president Mr. John Derosiers.

There was a gathering of fully 800 in the handsomely decorated hall, and the guests included directors and officials of the road, together with many friends of the association, members from the different Newtons, Needham, Highlandville, Woburn, Natick, Watertown, Waltham and Boston.

The grand march was headed by Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Taffe, D. J. Foley and Miss N. E. Callahan, J. J. Kivlehan and Miss M. E. Connor, J. P. Timoney and Miss L. L. Horan. Fully 100 couples followed.

W. B. Taffe was floor marshal, D. J. Foley, floor director; J. J. Kivlehan, assistant floor director; J. P. Timoney, second assistant floor director; and the following were aids: A. L. Moriarty, J. M. King, W. O'Brien, J. Sullivan, S. J. Reeves, J. A. Heenan, W. H. Wilson, W. J. Blackwell, F. McCarrill, W. A. Trask and W. J. Hazlett.

The reception committee was made up of J. A. Heenan, W. J. Blackwell, W. J. Hazlett, J. M. King, F. McCarrill, W. A. Trask and S. J. Reeves.

Horse Show.

Now that the entries for the Boston Horse show have broken all records, and the auction sale of horses has been equally successful, the public knows just what to expect when the exhibition opens. From every standpoint the exhibition will be one of the finest ever held in New England.

The horses entered are the pick and all cream of show horses and so far as numbers are concerned it equals many of the finest shows ever held in Boston.

From a social standpoint the show promises to surpass those held in years past and the rush for boxes at the auction sale, and the knowledge of those who purchased the exclusive sections, point to a gathering of society folk that will be second in consideration only to the horses. With the leaders of society and the best show horses a sight such as is only seen at horse shows will be before the public and it will make a picture which all may gaze upon for a nominal fee.

The horse show committee has done itself proud in bringing about such a fine show. There will be three performances daily, at 10 a. m., 2 and 8 p. m. Mechanics' Building, Boston. Week of April 13.

His Wife's Weak Heart.

It is a singular thing that in the popular view of disease the interdependence of the several organs of the body is lost sight of. The heart, for example, is diseased and it is treated as if it were entirely separated from, and independent of, every other organ.

The fallacy of this opinion is shown by the cures of heart "trouble," liver "trouble," kidney "trouble" and other so-called "troubles," effected by the use of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. Primarily the "Discovery" is a medicine for the cure of diseases of the stomach and blood. But it cures diseases of organs seemingly remote from the stomach, because these diseases have their origin in a diseased condition of the stomach and its associated organs of digestion and nutrition.

"I doctored with three different doctors for weak heart, but they did me no good," writes Mrs. Julia A. Wilcox, of Cuyahoga, Ohio, Box 52. "I was so tired and discouraged if I had had my choice to live or die I would have preferred to die. My husband heard of 'Golden Medical Discovery' and he bought a bottle. I took that and the first half seemed to help me. I took six bottles before I stopped. I am perfectly well, and am cooking for six boarders. It has been a God-send to me."

LINCOLN.

Graphic Reminiscences of His Death.

Anniversary Tomorrow—Dr. J. F. Frisbie Writes.

The anniversary of the assassination of President Lincoln brings freshly to my mind those ever-to-be-remembered days, following the evacuation of Richmond; the entrance of the federal forces into that city; the surrender of Lee's Army at Appomattox; the visit of the president to Richmond; the tumultuous demonstrations of joy and gladness in Washington and elsewhere; with all the grand celebrations of victory; with the near approaching peace to the whole country; followed as it was by the pall and gloom and sadness that settled over the entire country, when Abraham Lincoln was shot by John Wilkes Booth, in Ford's Theatre, Washington, on the evening of the thirteenth of April, 1865.

During the preceding year I had been stationed at various military hospitals in and around Washington, and for the last six months had been in charge of Wise-Wells Barracks Hospital on Seventh street. This had given me an opportunity for a rather wide acquaintance with government officials, especially with the Army Department.

From the time Grant camped in front of Petersburg, in 1864, followed by his gradually extending occupation of the country around Richmond by a cordon of fortification and troops, we felt convinced the end of the great struggle was near at hand, and the capture of Petersburg, Richmond, and the whole army of Gen. Lee was only a question of time, and not far distant the day when the rebellion would be crushed and our civil war at an end.

I remember, as if but yesterday, the morning when the news of the flight of Jeff. Davis and the confederate government, and the capture of Richmond reached Washington, followed, so soon, by the glad tidings of Lee's surrender at Appomattox, and the complete collapse of the head and front of the rebellion.

Washington went wild with joy and the streets were thronged with the people. Everywhere were signs of rejoicing. The people gathered in crowds at the White House and at the residences of prominent men and speeches were called for which were given with all the fire and enthusiasm of victory. The war was practically over and the terrible suspense of four long years was at an end.

Glad, happy faces everywhere. Joy on every hand, strong men grasped hands, uttered words of cheer and heartfelt gladness and with tears in their eyes thanked God for the victory and the peace, to our whole land that must soon follow. Even the sympathizers with the rebels drew a long sigh of relief that the suspense was over. As I wandered about the streets, I listened to impassioned speeches from men whose hearts were full of patriotic fire and their words were full of thankfulness and even forgiveness for the conquered rebels.

The most brilliant and noteworthy of the many was made by Vice-President Andrew Johnson, from the steps of Montgomery Blair's residence. Words rolled from his lips in one continuous stream. He outdid himself. Twenty thousand were there and the responsive cheers swelled on from the crowd and could be heard a mile away. At one point in his speech he asked, "What shall we tell John Bull?" and he answered the question himself. "We will tell England to beware, for just retribution surely will follow her nefarious, iniquitous and unchristian course." In scathing terms he told of her enmity to the north and that the war had been prolonged two years by the aid the south had received from the English government and people. At another point he asked:—"And what shall we tell Johnnie Crapaud?" Instantly, from way back in the crowd, in a loud voice came the quick reply: "Tell him to get out of Mexico," and the street rang with thunderous cheers at the aptness of the response.

The following day I spent in decorating the national buildings and the city, and from one end to the other waved the bright, starry flags, and bunting, red, white and blue was twined and festooned on every available point. At night transparencies were everywhere to be seen. Along the whole face of the Capitol, fronting the White House, was one gigantic transparency bearing letters many feet in length. This is the Lord's doing: It is marvelous in our eyes.

President Lincoln went to Richmond where he was welcomed by the colored people, he had set free, and many of the whites. He walked the streets unharmed. He felt and appeared very happy. The heavy burden under which he had labored so long was removed. His heart was light and the cloud on his brow passed away. The war was over; the country was saved and peace and prosperity was at hand.

It was well known in Washington that the president had been invited to be present at Ford's theatre on the evening of April 14th and that he had accepted. Consequently there was great rush for tickets. The public were informed that Gen. Grant was to be there the same evening.

It was also known there was to be a torchlight procession composed of employees of the United States, in Washington, and other persons on the same evening—that this procession was to pass the White House and be reviewed by the president. The theatre, although he would not arrive there till about nine o'clock.

It was my intention to be present at the theatre that evening and I made my arrangements to be promptly on hand. But early in the evening a friend of mine, Gen. Camp, came to my hospital accompanied by two ladies and invited me to ride with them to the White House to see the procession.

I accompanied them and when the review was over, it was so late I decided not to attend the theatre and was taken to my headquarters. Being very tired and weary I soon went to bed.

A little after midnight I was aroused by the officer of the day rushing into my room and exclaiming wildly—"Doctor! we're down to the theatre last evening!"

"No," I answered. "Have you heard the terrible news?" "No. What is it?" "President Lincoln has been assassinated."

"What!" I exclaimed, not clearly comprehending the awful words.

"President Lincoln was shot in Ford's theatre last night."

With a bound I sprang from my little iron cot and landed in the middle of the floor.

"Who did it?"

"John Wilkes Booth."

The nervous shock to me was so great that instantly I was shaking as badly as if I had an ague fit, and hastily getting back to bed and wrapping myself in my blankets, I listened to the additional information he had to give. His information was received from an officer who had just come back to the hospital.

I am not a profane man, but I retain a pretty clear memory of the strong, expressive, condemnatory in utterance and forcefulness of expression.

I directed the officer to obtain any other information he could and report to me. He had been coming from my room but a short time when Maj. Slickety, the commandant at the Post, came in with the additional information that a report had just come up that Secretary Seward and Secretary Stanton had been assassinated and an attempt made to get into Gen. Grant's house to kill him. Later we learned that Secretary Seward was not dead but dying as a result of the assassin's work, he being attacked while sick in bed—that his son and the male nurse were dangerously wounded and not expected to live, and that Secretary Stanton was not injured, although an attempt was made to get into his house and that Gen. Grant was not in Washington.

We at once sent out pickets to guard the adjoining streets with explicit orders to arrest and bring into the post any man, whether civilian or soldier, attempting to pass out from the city.

Feeling assured there would be a call for soldiers to do guard duty in various places in the city, orders were at once given for the troops at our post to be mustered on the parade grounds, given breakfast and await orders. Hardly had the soldiers breakfasted when an officer, from the war department, came bursting in upon us with an order for a detachment of men to have breakfast and then to report at army headquarters to do guard duty wherever required, and also to patrol the streets in our vicinity and arrest all persons going out of the city.

He was informed guards had already been stationed on those streets and that our men had breakfasted and were ready to leave at once. He expressed his surprise and gratification at our thoughtfulness, and, directing where they were to report, he turned on his heel and left.

These soldiers were among the first to report at headquarters and were detailed to guard the house of Secretary Seward and, I think, either the house of Secretary Stanton or Gen. Grant. Later in the morning I went down town and learned that the President was still living, but unconscious and rapidly sinking.

Grief stamped on every face. Sorrow had taken the place of joy and happiness and exultation. The city was in deepest mourning. Men met, grasped hands, but could scarcely articulate words, to full were their deeply gripped hearts. Sympathizers with the South, and there were many in Washington, expressed their grief and sorrow and detestation of the awful crime. They felt, as one expressed to me in emphatic words, "This killing of President Lincoln damns forever the Southern cause, although the South is not responsible for the terrible deed. Lincoln would have proved the best friend of the South and treated the people kindly and leniently."

They felt the war was over and this terrible crime would be laid to the South and thereby intensify the feeling of bitterness against her.

While the President lay dying a report reached me that a detachment of soldiers, who had been on guard at some place and had been relieved, were returning to their post, and when on a street near the Capitol a Southern sympathizer, (perhaps an actual rebel), shouted, "Lincoln's killed and I'm damned glad of it."

Instantly one of the soldiers brought his rifle to his shoulder and fired. The rebel dropped dead in his tracks. The soldier shouldered his rifle and the squad marched on without even halting.

I was too busy to attempt to verify the report but it was believed to be true at our post.

President Lincoln died in the house opposite the theatre, to which he was taken after he was shot. His body was removed to the Lincoln Hospital and there lay in state for several days. The public were admitted daily during certain hours. Men, women and children went in crowds to have one more and last look on the honest, kindly and well-beloved features of the man who had saved the country. I say crowds, but that word hardly conveys to the mind the enormous numbers constantly thronging the White House entrance.

I went one afternoon, hoping to be able to pass the gate entrance and again look on the man I honored above all others, whose hand I had often taken and listened to his kindly words and advice.

There were thousands at the gate before me and thousands continually coming. The crowd extended near a thousand feet on Pennsylvania avenue, above and below, the gates being well belated. I was slowly worked my way into the center of the crowd near to the sidewalk, and there further progress was almost impossible. Soldiers stood at the gate to aid and control the thronging.

For nearly two hours I swayed in the struggling, compact mass, pressed upon all sides—front, rear, right and left, and during all this time made not more than ten feet advance. The crowd was so dense that I was fainting and begged to be helped.

I reached forward and drew her back to me and then called upon the people to make way and aid me to take a look. Although every one seemed willing to render what service was possible, it was nearly half an hour before we were safely beyond the throng. I did not go back.

The following week the body was taken to the Capitol and lay in state in the rotunda. Scores of thousands went there to see it.

After a few days, when I felt the crowd extending from the front of the building a third of a mile away and new comers arrived and joined the distant rear faster than the front moved up the steps and into the rotunda. I had no time to wait for hours. What should I do?

Just then I espied an officer walking down the steps to give some order to one of the soldier guards. The procession was kept in line and order by those guards. Luckily I was near enough to recognize the officer as one stationed at my hospital. I walked directly across the open space to him and quietly said, "Captain, I will go with you when you go back. I want to get back to the hospital as soon as possible."

And together we walked up the steps and into the rotunda.

A minute I stood beside the casket that contained all that was earthly, left here, of our beloved Abraham Lincoln.

His features looked natural but dark from congestion, from embalming and the many days that had passed since he died.

That was my last look upon Abraham Lincoln.

Literary Notes.

The May Atlantic will open with the first installment of "Audrey," Miss Mary Johnson's new romance. Like "Prisoners of Hope" and "To Have and To Hold," it is a Virginia story, but it is set in the eighteenth instead of the seventeenth century. Typical figures in this complex and many-charactered story are witty Col. Byrd (2d) of Westover, and his daughter Evelyn; the fast, free, and reckless girl, Audrey, whose name gives the title to the book; is, we are inclined to believe, the most vital and fascinating personage created by Miss Johnson's imagination.

ANNUAL REPORT ON THE WORK OF THE CHURCHES.

TO THE SUFFOLK WEST CONFERENCE OF CHURCHES.

The Conference committee has secured reports from all the twenty-six churches of the conference, and these reports have been embodied in the statistical report which has been printed, and is now in the hands of the members of the conference. In addition to these reports the largest number of the churches have sent us written reports in reply to inquiries which we have sent out.

All our churches but one have been supplied with pastors during the entire year. Rev. Charles E. Havens, who has been the successful pastor of the church at Newton Highlands for about eight years, resigned his charge in January, and was dismissed on the 22nd of that month by a council, and commended to the churches as an able and faithful man, who has been blessed in his ministry. Rev. Ralph J. Haughton, who has been for two years at Needham, has also resigned his charge, and that church will be vacant in June. He will leave the church larger than he found it, and its condition has improved in many respects during his brief ministry. The houses of worship of our churches are well cared for. The value of these places of worship, according to the $2,128,300. statistics, taken a year ago is $2,128,300. making the average value about $80,000. The church in Watertown has expended $15,000 upon its house of worship during the year. The building has been thoroughly repaired and modernized and an organ costing $3000 has been put into its plan. The congregation are enjoying this beautiful and commodious place of worship. The people at Wellesley Hills decided to build a new church and have already raised $30,000 for that purpose. The old edifice has been taken down, and the work of rebuilding is now in progress. The congregation are meeting in a hall while the work is going on. At least two other congregations in our bounds are preparing to remove their old buildings and erect new ones.

Nineteen of our churches reported a year ago the amount of salaries paid to their pastors. It was $43,450, an average of $2,287. The amount of the home expenses of our churches reported this year is $147,815, an average of $5683 to a congregation. The amount raised for the home expenses is considerably larger than that which is given to the various objects of benevolence. These benevolent contributions do not vary much in their total amount from year to year. In 1898 they were $130,741; in 1899 they dropped to $124,183. In 1900 they were $135,430. This year we have $130,758, almost exactly the sum that was contributed three years ago. Of this amount a $40,000 has been given to foreign missions, and about $90,000 to the work at home including Home Missions, the American Missionary association, church building, education, and the other departments of the home work.

The churches giving the largest sums in benevolent offerings this year have been Eliot church, Newton, $36,273; the Old South church in Boston $33,552; Harvard church, Brookline, $12,818; the church in West Newton $7,600; the church in Auburndale $6,739; Central church, Boston $6,086; the First Church, Newton, $5520 and Park street church, Boston, $4,495.

This conference has not yet considered the plans for a "forward movement" in respect to systematic benevolences which have been urged upon the churches by the National Council, and which have already brought very favorable results in so many of our conferences. This matter should come in a definite form before the conference at the present meeting.

The church in Auburndale celebrated the fifteenth anniversary of its organization during the week between November 11th and November 18th. There was the historical sermon by the pastor emeritus, the Sunday morning sermon by the pastor, and a careful review of the missionary activities of the church; there were messages to the present members of the church, and from former pastors, and other exercises: the whole making the occasion memorable in the history of this church.

The pastors have been asked to report the average attendance at the service on Sunday morning. The pastor of the First church in Newton replies, "A little over 400. It is counted, not estimated." A few other pastors give answers which are as close as to indicate that there is a careful record kept. Most of the pastor's give estimates. In some instances their estimates are perhaps too large. But taking the estimates as they come to us, they correspond very nearly with the membership of the churches. Eliot church, Newton, estimates the attendance at 600. It has 632 members. Shawmut church, Boston, with 391 members, estimates its congregation at a little above 500. Allston, with 378 members, estimates its congregation at 300. Harvard church, Brookline, with 719 members, estimates its congregation at 900. The church in West Newton with 331 members estimates its congregation at 350. Auburndale with 389 members has about 300. Taking the churches altogether, the estimated morning congregations amount to very nearly the same as the recorded membership of the churches.

The attendance at the evening service varies in different churches. At Shawmut church and the Old South church, and at Berkeley Temple it does not vary much from the attendance in the morning. At some seasons of the year it is larger than the morning. Most of the churches report a much smaller attendance. Some say they have one third as many as in the morning; others say they have one quarter, and others a smaller proportion than that. On the whole it is probable that one third the number of the congregations in the morning, would be a liberal estimate for the evening congregations. A large proportion of those who go in the evening do not go in the morning so that the pastors are preaching to a number very nearly equal to the sum of those who go in the morning and in the evening. We have found that the morning congregation is on the average not larger than the church membership. Taking one and one third of the membership of the churches of the conference for the total attendance morning and evening, we should have the number of persons who are addressed in these churches on the Lord's day a little more than 1,000. This is a very small proportion to the population of those towns, and sections of towns and cities in which our churches are planted.

Another method of finding out the number of people who are under the direct influence of our churches, is by counting the families represented in our congregations. These, according to the tables just completed, amount to 4643. Add to this number 1000 families for the five churches that have not reported this item, and we shall have 5643 families, connected with our twenty six congregations. If there are five persons in each family, we have 28,215 persons who are connected more or less directly with our congregations. This number is a little more than three times the present membership of our churches. This number may properly be regarded as the special field for our twenty six congregational churches.

One inquiry which I have sent out to our churches is this: "What is doing in your community to reach non-church-goers?" The pastor at Shawmut church replies: "A pastor's assistant does nothing else but look up strangers. We have a calling committee of one hundred to make a visit upon such as he finds being nowhere in our church lectures course, and our fortnightly strangers sociable aid us in securing the names and addresses of strangers and non-church-goers. The plan is an elaborate one, and it works well." The pastor at Allston says: "We are contemplating a canvass of all the families of the community, under the direction of the pastor, and the aid of representatives working under our direction." The pastor at Brighton says: "We are now making a very thorough census of our entire constituency, with a view to reaching the religious status of this entire end of the Brighton district. In this work, inaugurated by the boards of the church, all the departments of the church are co-operating." The pastor of the Swedish church in Boston writes: "We have a deaconess specially called for the purpose to work among non-church-goers." Dr. Davis of Eliot church says: "A canvass has been made by a visitor, aided by the churches of our village. This visitor called on all families in the community whose names were not on the visiting list of some one of the pastors, excepting the families attending the Swedish church." She has been followed by pastoral calls. Mr. Southgate says: "The whole region is districted, every house known, and personal effort made to reach those not in any other church." Mr. Farwell says: "Some are visited, and invited to come to the church by the pastor and a deaconess."

Another class of inquiries relate to the methods which are followed by the pastors and churches in their work.

The inquiry is: "What methods do you follow to secure contributions for objects of Christian Benevolence?" The pastor at Allston announces an annual offering to each of our congregational societies. A sermon is preached every Sunday by the pastor or a secretary, and the collection is taken. Dr. Thomas depends upon weekly offerings. Mr. Hale depends upon the pledge system, missionary committees and organizations. Mr. Noyes says: "We use the Harris system, and have a special collection for the support of our missionaries for and several other causes." Dr. Davis depends upon weekly offerings, personal notes and pupil committees. The church at the Highlands uses the system of weekly offerings.

Dr. Harrington uses "the Harris system," which is followed by an occasional special appeal or an address." These are special collections, and are taken in different churches. Another inquiry relates to the Sunday Evening Service. At Park street, it is conducted just as in the morning. At Waltham, it is a regular service, and the attendance is good. At Wellesley Hills, until the services in the old church were interrupted, the pastor gave expository lectures on the Epistle to the Hebrews in the evening. At Eliot church, a larger part of the year the sermon is shorter than in the morning, and there is more music. In the spring a choral service at half past four takes the place of the evening service. At Central church, Boston, there is a vesper service at 4 o'clock. At Harvard church, Brookline, the evening service is like that in the morning. At Shawmut church the evening service is a popular service, and is very well attended. At the Old South church the service is like that in the morning with free seats, earnest, practical preaching, and large congregations. In some of the smaller churches foreign missions, and in the morning, but a social meeting in the chapel. It would seem that the fullest evening congregations are drawn together by the preaching of the Gospel, in its simplest form, addressed to the heart and conscience, which is the purpose to "persuade men" to come to Christ.

Another inquiry relates to the Sunday schools. The number reported as connected with our schools is 6416, with an average attendance of 4081. This is less than the number reported a year ago, and is less than the number five years ago.

The most noteworthy feature in the Sunday school reports this year is the prominent part which pastors and assistant pastors are taking in teaching the Bible. At the Old South church, and at Berkeley Temple, Boston, and at Harvard church, Brookline, the assistant pastors are the superintendents of the Sunday schools. This illustrates the growing tendency in the best churches to put the Sunday schools under the direct management of the pastor, able to follow the methods of the best teachers in the public schools. A number of the pastors are teachers of large classes. Dr. Berle of Brighton teaches a class of eighty five men and women, and is really a class in Biblical Theology, and is a very prominent part of the work of the pastor. Dr. McEwen at Shawmut church teaches a large Bible class. Mr. Gilman at Waverley, and Mr. Noyes at Harvard church, at Brookline, the assistant pastors are the superintendents of the Sunday schools. This illustrates the growing tendency in the best churches to put the Sunday schools under the direct management of the pastor, able to follow the methods of the best teachers in the public schools. A number of the pastors are teachers of large classes.

About one half the schools are using the Pilgrim series. Others use the Bible lessons, or the Peloubet lessons. None of the schools have teachers' meetings for the study of the lessons, but a number have a monthly meeting for consultation as to the best method of teaching. At Newton Centre, various lessons are used in different departments. The Intermediate department uses the Intermediate lessons. The Primary department uses a Blakesley series. The Bible lessons are a study of Scripture history; and topics provided from week to week. Some of the schools still allow the regular lessons to be interrupted by special occasions, such as Children's Sunday, Easter and Christmas, so that on those days there is no work for the teachers to do.

Another inquiry relates to the mid week prayer meeting. The First church in Newton takes up this subject, and has a line study of the Prophets of Israel in the Friday evening meetings. The devotional character of the meeting is retained. Except for question and answer there are few remarks, and the remaining time is given entirely to prayer. At Auburndale the pastor alternates with the brethren in conducting the meeting. The church appoints a prayer meeting committee, and gives the direction of the meeting to the brethren. At Eliot church the pastor leads, and makes the meeting as informal as possible. There are more remarks than prayers. At Allston the meeting is especially a meeting for prayer. At Watertown it is rather a meeting for prayer than for talk. The pastor conducts the meeting at Waltham, and uses a variety of methods: sometimes by question and answer; sometimes by a lecture. It is called the mid week meeting, not the prayer meeting. At Park Street they have a large attendance, and deeply spiritual meetings, on the old lines. At Shawmut the attendance has averaged 100. At Wellesley Hills the leaders are laymen, and they have good meetings. At Belmont it is a prayer meeting. They had but one man who could offer prayer in public, for a long time. Now they have three or four. The North church, Newton, uses the Congregationalist Hand-book, and the meeting is made up of conference and prayer.

It is evident from these reports that the mid week meeting is no longer a lecture, as it was in Puritan times. Nor is it a simple meeting for supplication, according to the words of our Saviour: "Where two or three are gathered in my name, there am I." And "if one of you shall agree as touching anything that they shall ask, it shall be done." These two texts gave the tone to the prayer meetings of eighty years ago, when the churches were receiving abundant spiritual life from the Holy Spirit. They are trying to combine the two methods, and—if I may venture the suggestion,—they have the advantage of neither. The questions relating to the society of Christian ladies have been brought up, and expected replies. The number of members is now 1752. That is smaller than it was three years ago by 246. Our youngest church has no society, and the number of the younger churches says, "We have abandoned it." The pastor of one of the most important churches in the conference says very unfavorably of the influence of the society. Another says, "It does not act as it should in leading the young into the church." One reports, it is "rather weak," and another, "it is less vigorous than we wish." On the other hand, Mr. Harrington says, "It is a great help to many of our young people." The pastor of the Swedish church in Boston says, "It is flourishing," and Dr. Thomas says the same thing. Mr. Southgate says "it is admirable, helpful, indispensable." Dr. McEwen says "the society is in excellent condition, and is doing a many sided work."

Still another inquiry is this: "Do Christian Families maintain Family Worship?" The answers are very different from those that used to be given twenty-five years ago. Some pastors reply, "I do not know." One young pastor says, "I know of only three families where there is family worship." The pastor of a large church in Boston says, "A few do, but the majority do not." Dr. Davis of Newtonville says, "I think many do, but I have no estimates of the number." Dr. Withrow says, "some are, but I may say a good proportion." Mr. Noyes of Newton Centre says, "so far as my observation goes, family worship is decreasing among our people. Still, a large proportion, especially of the older people, maintain it."

With reference to family worship, one may well quote from the eloquent oration recently delivered by Senator Hoar, on Robert Burns. He says, "the whole secret of Scottish history, the whole secret of New England history, is told in the Cotter's Saturday Night." And after quoting from that incomparable poem, the orator said, "From scenes like these New England's grandeur springs." God forbid that we should ever get far from the spirit of "The Cotter's Saturday Night."

Another inquiry is: "How is the Lord's Day Observed in your Community?" The pastor of the Swedish church in Waltham, replies, "we hold it a holy day." The Swedish pastor in Boston says, "the Lord's day is well observed, and is a day of rest, but how it is in the whole community, it is hard to tell." The pastor of Leyden church says "attendance at morning worship is quite general. The afternoon is becoming a time for social calls and recreations." Dr. Thomas says, "it is observed with much laxity." Dr. Davis of Newtonville says "people attend church fairly well, they ride and make calls in the afternoon." Dr. McEwen says, "by the church folks it is observed well in church attendance, family religious instruction, and helpful ministry in the hospitals. By the people of the community, the day is becoming a time for social calls, and recreations." Dr. Berle says, "my judgment is that the Lord's day is observed as well as ever, some changes taking place, but not of such a character as indicates decline in true religion." Mr. Noyes says, "I do not know any increasing laxity in the observance of the Lord's day. Most of our people ride or walk Sunday afternoon, if convenient. There is some social entertaining and visiting, but not a great deal. The quiet of the day is maintained in the community."

From these particulars, we pass, in the conclusion of this report, to the comprehensive inquiry as to the state of religion in these twenty-six congregations. Are we growing on the whole, or losing? Are we making a wise and faithful use of the material which has been provided for us, in these rich and spacious houses of worship? Are our churches doing their part towards evangelizing these great and growing communities? What lessons do our statistics teach us?

One pastor says, "the kingdom of God cometh not with observation." This is very true, but we needed to know how many apostles our Lord had chosen, and about how many we ourselves had in our upper chamber, and about how many there were to whom our Lord appeared when He went into Galilee, and how many were added to the Lord on the day of Pentecost. It may be for our profit to study the figures which show what the Lord has been doing for us.

We have in the churches of this conference at present 8432 members. That is larger than the number reported a year ago, but it is less than the number reported five years ago. The number reported a year ago was larger than it is now by 300. The figures in these reports are not perfectly accurate. Park Street church in Boston has this year erased the names of 497 members, and rest of a thorough revision of the roll, which had been neglected a number of years. That is more than half its membership as represented a year ago. It does not follow that the roll of membership is incorrect. Very thorough work is done from year to year, in revising the church rolls, and the number of members reported is in the main correct.

The number removed by death is 100. Some of these were among the aged and useful members of our churches. The church in Watertown especially has suffered by the removal of a number who have been depended on for many years, to lead the church, and to bear the heavy burdens. Dr. Hazen, among the ministers, has been called away. We shall miss him more than most others, for he was constant in his attendance and was wise and helpful in his counsel. Two hundred and sixteen have been dismissed to other churches, and 338 have been received to our churches by letter. The number we receive by letter is larger from year to year, than the number we dismiss.

The number of children baptized is 162. No one of the churches reports a season of special religious interest during the last year, but in several of them there has been a sustained and constant religious work which has brought new members at every communion season. Shawmut church has received by confession of faith during the year, the Swedish church in Boston has received 33; Harvard church in Brookline 26; Old South in Boston 20; Brighton 19; Park Street church 14; Berkeley Temple 13. Every church but two, has had some additions by confession.

The whole number added to our churches by confession of faith is 244, an average of 9.12 to each church. Eight churches are added by confession of faith, and eighteen below the average. The percentage of additions by confession of faith is almost exactly the same as have been received this year. Our religious means and agencies are not becoming more efficient. The number we have added on confession of faith this year is two, and nine tenths of one per cent of our total membership. The percentage of additions by confession of faith is lower in our churches than the percentage of additions in the whole state. There are some reasons why our percentage ought to be higher than that of the rest of the state. There is a massing of Christians in these great churches, which places them at a great advantage over communities where the means are very limited, and the opposition is exceedingly strong. It is possible, further, that the percentage of additions on confession of faith to the churches of our conference is lower than the average percentage of such additions to the Congregational churches of the whole country, by about one third. That is, your missionaries out on the frontier,—in the mines,—among the Mormons, have in some respects, the advantage of their brethren whose field of labor is there old Puritan parishes.

As respects our prospects for the future; the answers are not quite harmonious. Mr. Noyes says: "the young people of our own families, trained in the Christian church, are the largest source of additions on confession, year by year." Dr. Berle says: "The religious life in this parish may be described as steadily growing, with increasing deeper emphasis upon the Christian life and family religion. As I come to the end of my tenth year in this parish, I think I am safe in saying that I have never seen here so many evidences of a sound and healthful religious life as at the present moment. The additions on confession the last year were larger than in any year of the last thirty excepting two." Dr. Harrington says: "there are indications here of a deep, earnest, true devotion to the King and his kingdom. The state of religion is not discouraging." Mr. Porter says: "Men are losing the consciousness of God, church members are out of touch with the Eternal. We have developed a strong sense of humanity; we are far from having a strong faith in the Highest." Mr. Whiting speaks of the conversion of two Roman Catholics, and their reception to the church, and he hopes for increased religious influences to give success to his "pioneer work." Dr. Withrow says: "the one has been more spiritual than I have observed since returning. Mr. Harrington says: "I think a deeper religious earnestness has been manifested here. There have been some interesting conversions. Faithful work of Sunday school teachers has been the means of bringing a number of young people into the new life."

BEWARE THE BUNCO MAN.

HE IS WILY, HE IS CUNNING AND HE'S EVERYWHERE ABOUT, SO BE CAREFUL. OR HE'LL CATCH YOU IF YOU DON'T WATCH OUT.

It behooves every "lady-of-the-house" who does not desire to read in the newspapers of how she was victimized by an old-time swindling game, to prepare herself and family for the advent of a "bunco man," who is as certain to appear in Newton as are the crocuses that bloom in the spring.

He is likely to arrive in almost any form for he has as many disguises as a stage detective. To the police he is a formidable character for they know he is as sly, almost, as they are watchful: sometimes he is more, and is successful in working a susceptible householder. Then the police are criticised.

Having the interests of the Newton people in mind Chief of Police Tarbox sounds the slogan "Beware, the Bunco Man."

There are individuals who masquerade as "gas-meter inspectors," and who to all intents and purposes, look the part. If they are "crooked" it is generally their desire to inspect rooms of a house other than that in which the gas-meter or incandescent light meter is situated. On this pretext they manage to enter the up-stairs rooms and incidentally connect their fingers with some valuables.

Often a legitimate gas-man or electric light inspector is much embarrassed by the over-suspicious. He is sometimes turned down as an impostor and in consequence his work is delayed.

If a householder will remember that an employee of the Newton & Watertown gas-light company, if he is there to read the gas or incandescent-light meter, has no reason for entering any other part of the house, and further he will exhibit a badge. The bunco inspector has a long story but no badge. Remember this.

Now the chief of police says he has many complaints of the actions of those who desire to enlarge photographs.

It is of the individual who offers to enlarge the picture for nothing but who wishes to include a frame, that the chief says "don't do it." He will want you to sign a contract and then you are "it." Deal only with a dealer who advertises, and who advertises properly in the GRAPHIC.

Young Men's Club Banquet.

The Young Men's Club of Eliot church held their fifth annual banquet Tuesday evening in the church parlors. As in former years the occasion was one of much interest.

It was a thoroughly "good time" dignified with the presence of these special guests: Ex-mayor Cobb, Alderman Ensign, Rev. E. H. Byington, Mr. C. A. Haskell, Mr. S. M. Sayford, Mr. R. V. C. Emerson, Rev. S. L. B. Spear, Hon. Thos. Weston and Edwin A. Lincoln, general secretary of the Y. M. C. A. Several of these gentlemen spoke.

As announced on the menu there were "toasts, roasts and boasts," galore. Beginning with Ensign Jr.'s poem, there was no end of good natured hits, but Pres. William T. Coppins, toastmaster, kept the reins well in hand and guided his fellow members and their guests, free from side-tracks to the end of a very pleasant and enjoyable evening.

Rev. W. H. Davis was not forgotten, as he was remembered in a special toast, and referred to felicitously by the speakers.

There were excellent singing by the Harvard quartet, and selections by a mandolin and guitar club.

A meeting of the Newton teachers has been called by the superintendent for Thursday afternoon, April 25th, at 4 o'clock, in the Bigelow school hall. The speaker will be Mr. Henry T. Bailey, State Agent of the Massachusetts Board of Education and his subject will be Constructive Design. The Bigelow school is chosen as a place of meeting in order to give all the teachers of Newton an opportunity to see the building and the works of art with which it is beautified.

There will be abundant room for people other than teachers who would like to hear Mr. Bailey on this subject, and their presence on this occasion will be welcomed.

The seven grand pianos recently purchased by the supply committee of the school board, through the special appropriation made for the purpose by the board of aldermen, have been placed in the Adams, Cladin, Peirce, Williams, Wade Hyde, and Mason schools. The need of such instruments has been felt for a number of years, and the final accomplishment of the purpose has given the greatest satisfaction to teachers, pupils, and all interested in the welfare of the schools.

The G. A. R. veterans of the Charles Ward post pleasantly entertained the girls of the Lasell Battalion at a reception given Thursday evening at Grand Army hall, in Newtonville.

Newton Girls Who Ride "Clothespin."

From Bud Brier's "Under the Rose" column of Monday's Globe: "Critics of those young women who intend riding 'clothespin' at the Boston horse show have not seen a Newton girl have in mind. Near my house there is a young society belle who takes pride in her accomplishment. On pleasant days she is often seen astride a horse, her head uncovered and her whole manner indicating the utmost delight. Thus far I have heard no unfavorable comment concerning her."

In another instance I observed the little daughter of a prominent family riding astride, so easily and gracefully that it was difficult not to suppose that such was her customary attitude. She wore a silken skirt whose width permitted free adjustment over her pony's back, and the little riding boots peeped modestly from under it on either side.

Police Paragraphs.

Monday an investigation was made of a theft at the B. A. A. gun clubhouse at Riverside (Weston side). The partially completed building was entered by the means of false keys and a large quantity of carpenter's tools stolen, together with sweaters and other property belonging to club members.

The members of the department will draw for vacations on Tuesday.

On report of the license committee, Giuseppe Trada, Giovanni Campana, Frank Rosino, street musicians, and Louis Tabaldi, as common victualers were granted leave to withdraw.

From the finance committee reports were received. From the Claims committee relative to settlement of claims for sewer damages and assessments at Lower Falls.

From the finance committee recommending appropriation of $200 for repairing rifle range; approving settlement of Lower Falls suits for sewer damages and assessments, and recommending grant of $76,200.50 for city expenses to May 15.

From the public property committee recommending repairs to rifle range; recommending $500 for plans for new 12 room school building, Ash street; recommending $500 for plans for 12 room school building, Mason district, relative to obtaining bids for removal of old Mason school; and relative to obtaining bids for heating, etc. of proposed new contagious ward, Newton Hospital.

From the highway committee relative to concrete sidewalks on Ripley street, under betterment act, and from the street light committee favorable to pole location on Waverley avenue to Gas Co.; and recommending one street light on Williams street.

When majority reports of the finance committee adverse to an appropriation of $500 for plans, etc. for a new school house at Auburndale, and recommending $100 for plans for a new 12 room school house at Newton Centre were offered, Alderman Weed moved to substitute the reports of the minority therefore, and to postpone action until the orders were reached.

AUBURNDALE SCHOOL HOUSE.

At that time Alderman Weed offered the order recommended by the public property committee for the adverse report of the finance committee. This order appropriated $500 for plans for a new 8 room brick building on Ash street through limited competition of architects. At the request of Alderman Fisher, Supt. of schools Fifield gave figures regarding the Williams district, showing that an increase of 41 per cent had occurred since 1894. Mr. Fifield said that with 8 new rooms, all but 2 would be occupied, and there would be an average of 33 pupils to each of the 16 rooms.

Alderman Lyman then offered to substitute order for the same purpose, reducing the appropriation to $100 and with unlimited competition. Alderman Weed said that the amendment was only a matter of detail. He believed the city would obtain better results and more for the money through a limited competition. As to the main question, he called attention to the change of sentiment in the Williams district, and said that its wishes should be met as far as the interests of the whole city would allow. He criticized the plan for an addition to the Williams building, calling attention to the difficulties in construction, the obtaining of additional land and the removal of large quantities of gravel for which the city has no present use. The question of a school headquarters for the future of Auburndale was also touched, and he said that everything points to the north side of the track as the future place for development of this village, and called attention to the fact that the order contemplated a future enlargement of the proposed building.

The matter of open competition was briefly discussed and the amendment defeated. Alderman Ensign, Fisher, Hutchinson, Lyman, Mellen, Pond and Baily (8), voting in favor, and Alderman Brown, Chesley, Hubbard, Lowe, Norris, Pulsifer, Saltonstall, Stickney, Trowbridge, Wardwell, Weed and Weldon (12), voting no.

Alderman Hutchinson believed that if a new 8 room building could be built for $45,000 or $50,000 that the 4 room addition could be built at the same rate, and thought the conference committee was fully justified in its recommendation, although personally he would have acquiesced in a proposition of another addition nor a new building. He believed the board ought not to ignore the needs of other districts, and called attention to the overcrowded and unsanitary conditions at the Upper Falls. Alderman Brown said that reputable architects had stated that a new building could not be cost over $50,000 and called attention to the use of the attic in the present Ash street building, and that the land had been purchased unanimously for the new building.

Alderman Pond called attention to the lack of specific recommendation in the report of the conference committee as to the Wade school, and spoke in favor of the new building on Ash street.

Alderman Lothrop said the greatest need was at Newton Centre, and Upper Falls comes next. The board must consider the taxpayer, and believed the needs of Auburndale as not imperative. The situation at Auburndale has not changed in many years, although the sentiment has. The recommendation of the public property committee does not provide any more room than that of the conference committee and double the cost.

Alderman Fisher also defended the report of the conference committee, saying it still stood by its recommendations, and as it was appointed to consider the whole city, it could not see its way clear to do all it saw necessary to be done. He wished the order tabled for a recommendation of the school committee.

Alderman Weed objected to delay as it would be about middle of June before the contracts could be authorized.

Alderman Lyman went over the whole matter in a lengthy speech, in which he spoke of the present fire risk on the Ash street school, and the expense of obtaining additional land near the Williams.

Alderman Chesley expressed himself as satisfied with the recommendations of the finance committee, and the order was then adopted. Alderman Brown, Ensign, Hubbard, Lowe, Lyman, Norris, Pond, Pulsifer, Saltonstall, Stickney, Trowbridge, Wardwell, Weed and Weldon (14), voting aye. Alderman Chesley, Fisher, Hutchinson, Lothrop and Mellen (5), voting nay. President Baily (aye), paired, with Alderman Weeks (nay).

MASON SCHOOL HOUSE.

In place of the order for $100 for plans, by unlimited competition for a new 12 room school house at Newton Centre, offered by the finance committee, and the order was moved to substitute the order for $500 for plans by limited competition, recommended by the public property committee. He believed that a 12 room building on Ash street through limited competition of architects, and the further additions should be made by outlying primary school houses, where the children are, and said the plans makes ample provision for present needs and also contemplates the future.

Superintendent Fifield then submitted figures as to the Mason district, showing an increase of 32 per cent since 1894, and said that with the 20 rooms (including the Williams school), the present attendance would fill 18, average 41 pupils. He did not believe the average should be over 36. Thompsonville sends 18 pupils, Chestnut Hill the same and Cork City nearly 100. A new school at Cork City would materially change the conditions at the Mason school.

Alderman Fisher spoke on the financial view of the matter and Alderman Hutchinson offered an amendment to provide for 16 rooms.

Alderman Weed believed it a serious mistake to put 24 rooms at the heart of Newton Centre, and Alderman Chesley wanted the architect taken from Newton.

Alderman Weed's substitute was then defeated. Alderman Brown, Hubbard, Lowe, Norris, Pulsifer, Stickney, Trowbridge, Wardwell and Weed (9), voting in favor, Alderman Chesley, Ensign, Fisher, Hutchinson, Lothrop, Lyman, Mellen, Pond, Saltonstall, Weldon and Baily (11), voting no.

Alderman Hutchinson's amendment for 16 rooms was then carried. Alderman Hubbard, Lowe, Wardwell and Weed (4), voting in opposition, and the order as amended was unanimously adopted.

The following orders were then adopted: Authorizing public building commissioner to advertise for bids for removal of old Mason school, authorizing public building commissioner to obtain bids for heating, etc., of proposed new contagious ward at Newton Hospital; authorizing laying of water mains in Elm street, ($185), Gray Birch terrace ($164), Harris road ($185) and Pine street ($200) authorizing settling of suits for sewer damages and assessments at Lower Falls, assigning hearing May 6 on laying concrete sidewalk on Ripley street under betterment act; granting $200 for plans for new 12 room school house at Newton Centre; authorizing location of a street light on Williams street, appropriating $200 for repairs to rifle range; granting $76,200.50 for city expenses to May 15; taking land for sewer; and authorizing sewer construction in Furber lane.

RECONSIDERATION.

Alderman Chesley then moved to reconsider the order appropriating $500 for plans for new 8 room building on Ash street under limited competition. The motion was opposed by Alderman Weed, and by Alderman Lyman the latter remarking that there were times when it was better to take the bitter with the sweet, and favored by Alderman Saltonstall and Lothrop. The motion was lost however by a rising rate of 8 to 11, and a similar motion by Alderman Weed to reconsider the Mason school order, was also defeated 6 to 12, and at 12:30 o'clock a. m., the board adjourned.

During the session, the aldermanic business was suspended, to allow Mr. Frank T. Harsh to explain the workings of the Bardwell Votometer, which was on exhibition during the evening in the chamber and was the matter of various election officers had been invited to be present.

Mr. Harsh operated the machine and showed how to vote straight, split and independent tickets, the ease and rapidity with which each was done was a revelation to those familiar with the Australian ballot.

The Public Reading of the Sacred Scriptures.

The Sage Leaf for April has the following interesting article on "The Public Reading of the Sacred Scriptures" by Rev. George W. Shinn, D. D.:

It has always been the usage of the Christian church to devote some part of the hour of public worship to the reading of selections from the writings of the prophets and psalmists, the historians, evangelists and apostles. The great purpose of such reading is the edification of the hearers.

But when you listen to this feature as you find it in many a Christian assembly you may well ask the question: "Is it in deed edifying?" The testimony of a large number of lay people and the confessions of some clergymen are to the effect that nothing is usually so poorly done in the public services of the church as the rendering of the portions of the Bible. The singing may be good, the prayers may be reverent, the preaching may be instructive, but the Scripture reading is usually uninteresting and sometimes is execrable.

Why? One would think that special efforts would be made to have all such reading become as effective as possible. Now and then when you get into a church where the reading is effective you realize what a help it can be made not only to edification but to devotion. Why, then, do we not have better reading in the churches?

One answer is that but very little attention is paid to the matter in the theological schools. The training of most ministers is defective just there, and it shows itself throughout all their future work.

Just as the small boy who failed in his examination in fractions excused himself by saying that that part of his arithmetic was too hard for him, so many a minister who blunders and stumbles and fails as a reader might perhaps offer as an excuse the fact that in his theological school he did not learn to read the Scriptures.

A second answer is this: The Scriptures are sometimes poorly read in public because the reader does not understand what he is reading, and he has not had the selection in advance, and therefore fails to see its connection, its drift and the truths it would convey.

There is no disguising the fact that there is some bad reading. The only way to remedy this is to settle one's self down to the serious and deliberate study of the chapter.

No public reader would try to render one of Browning's poems, for example, without having first studied it, but we do hear a man struggling with a poetical passage from a prophet, or a song of Moses or of David—and the struggle is to be seen to him. It is often painfully evident to the listener in church that the reader does not really understand the portion he is reading. Yes, the reader himself is only too well aware that he is just repeating words, words, words.

Well, that ought to be remedied, and the common-sense suggestion is that he give the same study to the portions he has to read as the public reader gives to the selections with which he interests his hearers.

The mention of the public reader brings to notice one more reason for the poor reading in church. It is the result of the prejudice by some against elocution.

There is a notion that everybody reads and speaks well until he begins "to take lessons," and then he becomes unnatural. There have been good schools of oratory where the old starchy, bombastic style was taught, but these no longer exist, and the style is out of date. Now you can find schools where the style of reading and speaking is taught in a perfectly simple, natural and easy, and where the great effort is to show the reader and the speaker how to be themselves without imitating anybody else.

If a minister finds that he is not able to read well, his duty is to put himself under training at once. There is no humiliation whatever in going to a school of instruction once a week or so, or joining a private class, or taking lessons from a competent teacher. No, there is no humiliation in using proper means for increasing one's usefulness, but on the contrary any man is to be commended who is unwilling to go stumbling along in the uninteresting fashion of so many now in the ministry when they attempt to read the Scriptures in public.

There is no demand for eloquentary pyrotechnics, or for flashy extraordinary performances, but the people have a right to ask that the Bible shall be read in public worship, by the men appointed to read it, in such a way that its truths shall not be misrepresented or obscured through their ignorance or carelessness, but that the reading shall be to the general edification of those who hear.

State House Letter.

(Special to the Graphic.)

Boston, April 17.
This will be the last full day for work for the general court this week owing to the Governor Wolcott Memorial tomorrow, and the fact that Patriot's day comes on Friday.

The interest in the question of the construction of the Charles river dam continues to be unabated. Circumstances prevented the attendance of Mr. J. Richard Carter at the hearing given remonstrant to this bill a few days ago, he having been temporarily ill, while Hon. Alden Spear with Mr. Carter was opposed to this bill, was also absent, being in Washington. The names of both gentlemen as well as of other prominent Newton citizens, are signed to the protest which is so effective against the building of the dam at this time. There is nothing to change the opinion heretofore expressed that the committee will report reference to the next general court upon the project. The great scheme of a 35-foot channel at the entrance of Boston harbor, it is felt, must not be menaced by any such enterprises as that so greatly desired by Cambridge citizens.

The committee on metropolitan affairs continues its policy of advocating the postponement of all boulevard measures until next year at least. There seems danger that it will class the proposed Wellington bridge between Somerville and Cambridge with the other boulevard measures, but there is a difference, as the Wellington bridge is not one to accommodate the Fellowship boulevard, but Highland avenue, which runs from Somerville to Stoneham as well. The failure to act upon this project is having a direct effect upon building operations and consequent development in the West End of Malden and beyond. Until it is built no electric cars can cross the Mystic river so as to furnish a quick route from Boston to Malden and even to some sections of Medford. Therefore Medford, Somerville, and Malden are enthusiastic for this bridge which, however, is not desired particularly by Melrose, which city seems to be standing in her own light, nor by Stoneham, which feels too poor to pay any part of its cost. The form of the bill has been changed this year so that there is no danger that Cambridge, Newton and other southern Middlesex communities will be taxed for it.

The committee on metropolitan affairs has finally reported adversely on William H. Baker's petition for the repeal of the Boston police board act. This adverse report was not unexpected, but it will be very surprising indeed if the fiery eloquence of Mr. J. J. Logan, who has been in the hearings does not result in like philippics from members of the committee and others when the matter is debated in the House, and possibly also in the senate. Mr. Baker cannot well argue that his attack upon the board was justified, from the fact that there has been such activity on its part on the question of granting licenses to second class hotels and in other directions since he started in on his expedition.

Men like Mr. Baker, and attacks like that he made upon the board, seem to be needed by certain bodies at stated periods in order to secure the best results. If the writer is not mistaken, the leading petitioner for the law to prohibit the sale of cigarettes in Massachusetts is a resident of Newton. The petition this year came from the officers of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union, and has resulted in a bill reported by the committee on public health by a unanimous vote, favoring an extension of the age during which the sale of cigarettes is prohibited from 16 years to 18 years. This is not at all what was desired by the petitioners, and yet if it is to be considered as a step in the direction of the absolute prohibition of the sale of cigarettes it will be welcomed. It may be considered a second step, but not after this is written, that the only reason which prevented a report in favor of the bill from the committee on public health was a perhaps natural feeling on the part of the committee that it would be laughed at should it report the bill. The cause of this agitation is probably as well understood in Newton as anywhere, viz: the fact that our high school boys are becoming almost universally addicted to the cigarette habit, while it has gone down through the grades of the grammar school until it is no unusual sight in Boston and probably outside to meet an urchin of 7 or 8 summers with cigarette in his mouth. Had measurements been taken of the boys in our high school battalions ten or a dozen years ago, and could a comparison be made to day, it would probably be found that the high school cadet had grown stunted; and but one explanation is needed of this. Certainly the high school boys of the higher grades are very much undersized physically when compared with girls of the same age. The facts indicate that the advocates of the cigarette industry must one of these days consent to far more rigid legislation than is now in force to protect the children from a habit which is a menace to coming generations. It was probably this fact which convinced the opposition to the proposed cigarette bill that they must at least make a concession in the direction of this bill increasing the prohibitive age.

The prophecies in this correspondence of the signal defeat of the "semicolon" bill were fulfilled by so decisive a vote that only nine members of the senate (concentrated in its favor) of these nine, four were republicans while four democrats voted against the measure. Senator Nutt of course voted no.

Mr. Dana is in charge of a bill as to waiving contracts in securities and commodities which has been under discussion this week.

Mr. Dana and his associates have continued their harrying on the anti-stock watering bills and a report is expected from the committee at any time. The temper of the committee on the judiciary seems to be rather adverse to the proposed inquiry by a special commission, and in fact adverse to any new legislation. But the writer's idea as to Mr. Dana's attitude is that he would dissent from an adverse report if it were made. This is an opinion, however, and is not founded on any knowledge of his position.

Mr. Bullard's committee, railroads, has put in most of its reports, but has been holding back a bill as to the separation of grade crossings in Haverhill, as the special grade crossing commission set on Monday, and it desired to know whether that body really wanted legislation or not. The question of compulsory 500 mile mileage books has also been waiting for a decision from the committee.

The committee on probate and chancery were not impressed with the necessity for the legislation asked by Newton as to payments under the land register act, but they adversely and the senate accepted its report.

The house debated the vivisection bill yesterday.

As the senate has accepted the report, no further legislation necessary, on the attorney general's report, there is small probability that Mr. Dana will attempt to substitute a bill in the house, though he dissented from the report. Senator Atwill and Senator Sullivan of the upper branch attempted to substitute a bill to compel persons negotiating mortgages of over $5,000 from savings banks to register their land in the land registration act, but they failed. The fact seems to be that the land registration court is not appreciated, perhaps because it is not understood. MANX.

WASHINGTON LETTER.

(From Our Regular Correspondent.)

Washington, April 15, 1901.
President McKinley has conferred with a number of senators and representatives on the back and forth action of the Cuban Constitutional Convention on the conditions offered Cuba, and its deciding to send a commission to Washington. The president will courteously receive the commission, but will make it plain to them that the conditions offered are final and that they must be accepted sooner or later. The opinion of the president and those with whom he has conferred, including democrats as well as republicans, was reflected in the following statement made by Senator McComas, just after having had a talk with the president: "The Cubans are simply standing in their own light by not accepting the terms of the Platt amendment. This amendment was necessary, just and ultimate. We cannot change a single one of the provisions of the amendment in justice to the Cubans themselves, not taking into consideration our own interests. Each provision is a prop to the future republic. If a committee comes up here from the Cuban Constitutional Convention, I think they will find that out. They certainly cannot accomplish anything in the way of modification to the Platt amendment. They will learn what they ought to know now that the president has no power to repeal or modify an Act of Congress. They are to be treated all right when they visit Washington, but I believe they will go back home with plainer ideas of the intentions of this government." Senator Cockrell, a democratic member of the Senate Committee on Cuba, who has just returned from a visit to the island, expressed the opinion that the convention would in the end accept the Platt amendment, although, he said he would not be surprised if they took several more indecisive votes before doing so. He evidently believes that some of the members of the convention will be persuaded.

Mrs. John A. Logan made public a statement in answer to criticism of the bronze panels on the sides of the pedestal of the statue of Gen. Logan that was unveiled last week, in which she said: "No one supposes that it was not known to the sculptor, the statue commission and myself that Vice-President Arthur did not administer the oath to Gen. Logan as a Senator; that Senator Morton was dead, and that Senator Thurman was not in the Senate when Gen. Logan was sworn in for his second term. Of course, we knew all this, but we regarded it as because we wanted those panels to portray the most prominent men in the history of the country who were in the Senate during the sixteen years that my husband was a Senator. The selection of those who were to be represented on those panels was left to me, and I tried to select men who served at some time with Gen. Logan and who were representative of the country's history. In this connection I want to say, too, that the Commission appointed by Congress to have charge of the erection of the statue decided that the money appropriated by Congress should be applied to the base and to the pedestal of the statue, and I agreed that the other funds given toward the statue should be used for the making of the panels and other decoration of the pedestal. This other money was contributed by the army of the Tennessee, the Grand Army of the Republic, and by private individuals."

A prominent civil engineer of Washington, who on the strength of the recent rumor that an American syndicate, headed by J. Pierpont Morgan, had bought or were about to buy the franchise of the Panama Canal Co., wrote to the headquarters of the Panama Railroad Company, in New York, offering his services, has received a letter from S. Deming, Treasurer of that company, saying that there was no truth whatever in the report that J. P. Morgan, or anyone else had purchased or were about to purchase the franchise of the Panama Canal Company. That effectively disposes of that fake.

Lieut. Gen. Schofield, who came to Washington to preside over the Congress of the Loyal Legion of which he is President, held last week, said of the Philippines: "I regard it as a good thing for the people of this country that there is a problem to be worked out in the Philippines. The young men of this country have opportunities out there the improvement of them will be a benefit to the country."

There is no foundation for the story that negotiations for a new treaty with Great Britain, dealing with the Canadian question, have been started. After the lapsing of the Hay-Panncote treaty by the failure of Great Britain to accept it, President McKinley directed the Secretary to ascertain, if possible, from Senators, whether two thirds of the Senate could be counted upon to vote for the ratification of a treaty that would, in its main features, be acceptable both to this government and that of Great Britain. This task, by no means an easy one, Secretary Hay is still engaged on, and until it is completed, there will be no negotiations, as until then Secretary Hay will be unable to even start negotiations with Great Britain on the basis upon which this government will negotiate. The cable news that negotiations had been started in London, was as false as the Washington story. Whenever there are negotiations along this line, they will be conducted at Washington. President McKinley has absolute confidence in Ambassador Choate, but this matter is so important that he intends to keep his hand on the personally watch every step taken.

CONDITIONS IN CUBA.

STUDIED BY MR. NATHANIEL T. ALLEN WHO PASSED TWO MONTHS ON THE ISLAND.

Mr. Nathaniel T. Allen has returned, with Mrs. Allen, after a two months' rest in Cuba. His health he declares is much improved, and he has derived great benefit from the trip.

Mr. Allen had as his chief object a meeting with former pupils, and in several parts of the island he enjoyed the hospitality of those he had taught nearly half a century ago at the Allen school. One whom he met left the school 43 years ago and during all that time there was no correspondence between teacher and pupil.

Among those who entertained Mr. Allen were Don Carlos Yznaga, formerly mayor of Trinidad de Cuba, and one of the Allen school graduates. Mr. Edwin F. Atkins of Boston had Mr. Allen as his guest at Roldan, Cienfuegos, and at Santiago and Nassau. Mr. Allen was also entertained.

Mr. Allen took the opportunity to study the question of annexation, in which he always had much interest. Discussing it with a GRAPHIC representative the other morning, he said: "Nine-tenths of the educated Cubans are favorable to annexation, realizing as they do its benefits. The blacks do not look so kindly upon annexation, and I think I know the reason. Undoubtedly it is represented to them by politicians that there is a vast difference between the white and colored residents of the United States. Further, that the black man of the south is often barbarously punished for an offense of which he is but suspected."

"Then they are told that recently the negroes of certain southern states were disfranchised, and it is pointed out to them that they are likely to meet the same conditions, should they consent to annexation. 'Cuba is now waiting just what it needs—United States capital industries which are promoted by Americans will do everything for the country.'"

"When we say we guarantee Vinol, our new strengthener and appetite creator," states Mr. Hubbard, the Pharmacist, "we mean that if you are not benefited after taking it for any of the ailments for which it is recommended, you may come back to us and we will refund your money."

A Raging, Roaring Flood

Washed down a telegraph line which Chas. C. Ellis, of Lisbon, Ia., had to repair. "Standing in the water," he writes, "I saw a terrible cold and cough. It grew worse daily. I positively guaranteed for Coughs, Colds and all Throat and Lung troubles by Arthur Hudson, Druggist. Price 50c and $1.00. Trial bottles free.

Newton people are largely interested in the many charitable works undertaken in Boston, but special attention should be called to the Hull street mission in the North End, as residents of this city are active workers in its behalf.

The mission work is accomplished through a medical clinic, children, evening and musical classes and clubs, and is a social centre for helpful and elevating influences in that part of the city.

BOSTON AMUSEMENTS.

BOSTON MUSIC HALL, VAUDEVILLE.—For the week of April 22nd, Boston Music Hall has secured a number of attractions which would give any vaudeville theatre a enviable reputation. Henry Lee, the noted impersonator, will present his famous characterizations of "Great Men, Past and Present." Mr. Lee is an actor of remarkable powers and he has had a very successful career in his profession. His impersonations are extremely artistic, are skillfully presented, and are accompanied by some characteristic speech which lends strength to the impersonation. Such celebrities as Mr. Waldron is without doubt the most artistic and attractive female impersonator living. He makes up with astounding skill, his gowns are rich and complete in every feminine detail, and his songs and dances are bright and new. Jess Dandy is one of the most successful and original Hebrew impersonators in or out of vaudeville, and he is always amusing and entertaining. Others in the program will be McPhee and Hill, wonderful performers on the horizontal bar; Robertus and Wilfredo, in a remarkable rubber ball juggling act; Blockson and Burns, blackface eccentric comedians; Flatow and Dunn, Irish Comedians; Billy Carter, blackface monologist and banjoist; Sinclair's trained dogs; The Tennis Trio and Jessie Millar, three expert club jugglers and a talented acrobat virtuoso; Girard Leon's donkeys; California Trio, acrobats and barrel jumpers; Mons. Ellwood, conjurer; John Zimmer, juggler; Alf Holt, mimic; and the always interesting musical views of the American Vitagraph.

THE CONTAGIOUS WARDS.

The contagious wards now being completed at the Newton Hospital, include an administration building and a scarlet fever ward. In deference to the wishes of Mayor Wilson, the diphtheria ward was omitted from last year's contract. There is no good reason why diphtheria patients should be obliged to use a dilapidated wooden structure, while scarlet fever victims are cared for in a modern brick building. It was false economy not to provide for a completed building last year, and immediate steps should be taken to remedy the matter, during the present season.

We heartily favor the plan of obtaining complete bids for contemplated public buildings and works, before the necessary appropriations are authorized by the city government. Alderman Weed is to be commended for bringing about the change in method.

At the B. A. A. last Monday night Messrs. Pray and Buntin were part of an All Mass. team which bowled a picked team, selected by Sacy Reynolds. All Mass. won 2 out of 3 games. Pray's single of 236 was high, and he rolled a total of 532 Buntin rolled 455.

The following original poem was read by Harvey S. Chute, at the dinner recently given the bowling team:

AN ALPHABET OF HONOR.

1. For "A" is Aginaldo of the Archipelago, And "F" of course is Funston who foiled that fellow so, But now there comes another one, the great-est of the three, For "B" it stands for Buntin of the N. B. T.

Three cheers for Dicky Buntin, boys, And let off all your steam, For here's his health and three times three For Newton's Bowling Team.

2. And "D" is Dana Hutchinson, I fear, upon my soul, To see him pull his fierce mustache when he comes forth to bowl, But when a spot is wanted from the seven, four and ten, You ought to watch him grit his teeth and go and get it then.

Then three times three for "Hutch," my boy, And let off all your steam, For here's his health and three times nine For Newton's Bowling Team.

3. And "M" is Maltby known of yore to many folk, Who slings the style for all the team most elegant to see, But notice after making breaks as many as you like, He screws his lamp shade round his head and makes a triple strike.

And three times three for Maltby now, He's not in any dream, So here's his health and three times nine For Newton's Bowling Team.

4. And "T" is "Teacher," tough and tall, a twirler and a trumper, Who often rolls six hundred pins, but sometimes has a slump, Yet none of all the Newton Club will less its fair fame sully, As member, bowler, gentleman, good fellow, John F. Scully.

So three times three for Scully now, And let off all your steam, For here's his health and three times nine For Newton's Bowling Team.

5. But "W" is "Wu Ting Fu," the Wizard of the play, The Kaiser, czar, the Emperor, his Nibs, F. Wendell Pray, His first ball is the best first ball, his second takes the tricks, And averages clear way through, one hundred eighty-six.

He wins the individual, and spare prize, while the team, Three times three for just bowlers of the "Gilt Edge League," I deem, Make "Lion," "Unicorn" and "Bird," the "Boat," and others seem, Like Sugar-loaf-hatted Dutchmen of Rip Van Winkle's dream.

Now three times three for Wendell Pray, We have no better theme, And here's his health, and nine times nine For Newton's Bowling Team.

6. And one toast more, they kept the score, "L. Aiglon" and "Philly" too, While "Sherry" wrote the stories, and while Goldsmith pictures drew, So here's to them, and here's to him, lest we forget the facts, Three big cheers for "King William" and his routing maniacs.

So three times three, and nine times nine, For the bowling aggregation of our, Famous Newton Club

7. And one toast more, they kept the score, "L. Aiglon" and "Philly" too, While "Sherry" wrote the stories, and while Goldsmith pictures drew, So here's to them, and here's to him, lest we forget the facts, Three big cheers for "King William" and his routing maniacs.

So three times three, and nine times nine, For the bowling aggregation of our, Famous Newton Club

So three times three, and nine times nine, For the bowling aggregation of our, Famous Newton Club

9. And one toast more, they kept the score, "L. Aiglon" and "Philly" too, While "Sherry" wrote the stories, and while Goldsmith pictures drew, So here's to them, and here's to him, lest we forget the facts, Three big cheers for "King William" and his routing maniacs.

So three times three, and nine times nine, For the bowling aggregation of our, Famous Newton Club

10. And one toast more, they kept the score, "L. Aiglon" and "Philly" too, While "Sherry" wrote the stories, and while Goldsmith pictures drew, So here's to them, and here's to him, lest we forget the facts, Three big cheers for "King William" and his routing maniacs.

Death of Wm. P. Tewksbury.

William Plummer Tewksbury, formerly proprietor of one of the oldest bookstores in Boston, died Tuesday afternoon at his residence on Harvard street, Newtonville, aged 83 years 10 months. He had been ill about 10 days with pneumonia.

Mr. Tewksbury was born in South Weare, N. H., and upon attaining his majority came to Boston. He entered the bookstore of James B. Dow, located on Washington street, on the site now occupied by hotel Savoy.

After two years he was able to purchase the stock from his employer, and thereupon became proprietor. Among Mr. Tewksbury's patrons were some of the best known scholars and residents of Boston and vicinity.

In Boston Mr. Tewksbury had a wide circle of friends. He was one of the first subscribers and purchasers of the old Globe theatre. For a time he retired from active business and then took up insurance business. In this he was engaged at the time of his death.

Funeral services were held at the house at 2 Thursday afternoon.

Lieut. Gov. Bates in Newtonville.

Lieut. Gov. Bates was the guest of the Central Club of Newtonville last Saturday evening. After the regular business meeting Mr. Bates delivered a very interesting address on "The Great and General Court."

At the outset he pointed out the number of problems which are continually arising to face the legislators, and the methods of investigating these questions and of securing legislation to settle them. In the course of his remarks Mr. Bates criticised the newspapers which are always clamoring for shorter legislative sessions, arguing that the vast amount of business to be done, and the necessity of doing it carefully, makes shorter sessions impracticable. He also reviewed briefly and very entertainingly the long and honorable history of this second-oldest chartered legislature in the world, paying a high tribute to the men who have always composed the body and to the statutes which they have enacted. At the conclusion of the speech there was an informal reception.

Before the meeting Mr. Bates was entertained at dinner by former Representative Chadwick at his home on Walnut street, about a dozen of the officers and members of the Central Club and prominent citizens being in the party.

Christian Endeavor Notes.

Last Thursday, April 11, a meeting of the Newton Union was held at the Congregational church, Newton Centre. After the transaction of a little business, a most interesting and helpful address was given by Rev. Everett D. Burr of the Baptist church, Newton Centre, on the subject, "The Ministry of Youth." The company then broke up into groups, the different choruses forming separate groups under the leadership of one whose duty it was to answer any questions about the work of that particular committee. In this way the methods of work in the different societies were discussed and compared. Meanwhile the social committees of the Newton Centre society distributed frappe, cake, candy, etc. The meeting was well attended and enjoyed by all.

The Intermediate C. E. Society of the Congregational church, Needham, was organized a little over a year ago, and has taken the name of "The Dwight L. Moody Society of Christian Endeavor." This is the only C. E. society in the church and has for its superintendent Mrs. A. D. Kingsbury. The membership is 18. The meetings are held Sunday evening from 6 to 6.45 o'clock. About one third of the membership united with the church in January.

The leader of the Elliot C. E. meeting at 5.15 next Sunday will be Mr. Frank A. Day Subject, "Walking with Jesus." Col. 2: 6, 7; Gal. 5: 16-26.

Mr. Stanley D. Allehen leads the Golden Rule Society at Abundantia Sunday evening. Topic, "Walking with Jesus."

The Whatsoevers still prepare "The Greeting" for mailing every Friday before the evening meeting and attend the meeting too.

At the Arbor Day Social of the Golden Rule Society on April 9, divided quotations were distributed, and the company formed into groups for the purpose of putting them together. Each group then sought the author's name, searched the room for his portrait pinned to some one dress, consulted a list to find the name of a tree figuring in the author's writings and then tried to find some one wearing a sprig of that tree. Next maps were drawn of the author's state, and the best one of each group was exhibited. A sketch of the writer's life was then read, also a short selection from his writings followed by vivid interpretation by gesture of some production of the author or some name connected with him.

Pictures of trees were given as prizes to the most skillful group entertainers. There was as much pleasant instruction in the entertainment as in any of our old fashioned school graduation and as much work for the committee.

The subject proposed for April 21 by the United Society of C. E. is "Walking with Jesus." Col. 2: 6, 7; Gal. 5: 16-26. This subject will be taken by the Immanuel Baptist society, Newtonville, at their meeting.

The leader of the former will be Miss Lucy Stiles, of the latter Miss Lucy Gates.

At the reception which followed at the residence of the bride's mother on Ash street, Mr. and Mrs. Baird were assisted in receiving by Mrs. Dana, Mrs. Baird and Miss Hale.

Mr. and Mrs. Baird will enjoy a wedding trip to Bermuda, and at its conclusion will reside at Riverbank Court, Cambridge.

Street Commissioner and Mrs. Ross attended the funeral of Supt. of Streets Henderson of Needham last Monday.

DEDICATED TO MAY GRANT.

Leave me as memories of the past To cherish long with care Those laughing eyes, those oval cheeks, That brown and wavy hair.

For well you know in morning's glow, A day is never gone.

Your winsome smile in guileless youth, Like sunshine round me shone.

Oh! how my aching heart recalls That sky so dark and gray.

That caused us part 'till short 'twas long Since first you went away.

Your gentle voice and kindly words Were moon beams in the gloom That fancies wrought in by-gone days With photos of the past.

For Oh! Those skies above me Are changing with the wind And gray clouds are drifting through The cloisters of my mind.

Oh! or my native hillsides Far from the garish day Adown the aisles ways of my heart My thoughts are wont to stray.

A Half Century.

The Channing Sewing Circle held its closing meeting for the season, last week Thursday afternoon and evening. This meeting completed half a century of useful work by the society, which was formed October 27, 1851, only a few weeks after the church itself was organized. Of the 25 original members three are still living, Miss Susan J. Bailey, the first secretary, Mrs. Lucy B. Potter and Mrs. George C. Lord. Miss Bailey and Mrs. Potter were present at the meeting yesterday. The 50th annual report was read by the secretary, Miss Grace M. Burt, and besides a review of the year's work some of the most interesting features of the history of the sewing circle were told in its records were presented. One of the most memorable events was that of Sunday, Aug. 31, 1862, the day after the second battle of Bull Run when church services were suspended and the people worked all day in the vestry preparing hospital supplies. Mr. Andrew Cole was chosen a committee to go on with the goods and in the afternoon four large cases and many smaller packages were forwarded to Washington. In that year 1063 garments were made for the soldiers. The sewing circle is hereafter to be a department of the recently formed Channing branch of the Women's Alliance, in which all the charitable work of the ladies of the church is to be centered.

Literary Notes.

Pleasures of the Telescope, by Garrett P. Serviss, illustrated with charts. D. Appleton & Co., N. Y. Cloth $1.50. The popular success of the author's former work, "Astronomy with an Opera-Glass," and the recognition which it has received from leading astronomers as a trustworthy guide to the ground which it undertakes to cover, lead to the anticipation of even a wider welcome for "Pleasures of the Telescope." It has been the aim of the author to treat his larger subject in a similar spirit of sympathy with that broad view which holds that science is not necessarily dry and technical, that characterized his first book. He has written not for the original investigator armed with the most powerful instrumental equipment but for those who wish to see for themselves something of the beauty, charm, and wonder of the starry universe, with the aid of instruments that are within the reach of all. Beginning with a chapter on the choice selection and best manner of testing telescopes, the author takes up the colored, double, multiple, and temporary and variable stars and the nebulae, describing the peculiarities of each object; discusses and illustrates the principal planets: Venus, Mars, Jupiter, Saturn, etc.; describes the mountains, plains, craters, and "seas" of the moons, and the solar spots; and finally, gives a chapter on the ever interesting question of the existence of other worlds among the stars.

A Blow From Behind.

"One winter, when things were rather slow in New York city—it was just before John L.'s time"—said the old pugilist, "we made up a little party and hired a hall in one of the fishing towns not far away. We advertised a prize of $10 for any one who could stay on his feet against our men for five rounds. It was safe money, although when two or three of the boats came in at the same time we had all we could handle.

"But one night a fellow as big as the side of a house came along, and we smelled trouble. We put him up against the heaviest man in our party, who, though he only tipped the scales at 180 pounds, had two good hands and a head that you couldn't hurt with a piledriver. But the stranger was no slouch, and at the end of the fourth round we began to worry about the tenner.

"The ring was on the stage at the front of the hall, and at the rear of the stage there were two windows. So I says to our man as I sponged his mouth, 'Work him over to one of the windows.'

"It wasn't no easy job, but he did it before time was half up, and as the duffer backed up near the window he got a crack in the head from behind that dumped him in a heap. That's the way we saved our ten.

"But the funny part of it is that our champion had caught the local guy on the jaw the same moment, and we could never persuade him that it wasn't himself that secured the knock-out."—New York Sun.

An Animated Parcel.

Duncan Ross, the Scotch athlete, brought to New York with him some years ago a valuable bull terrier, famous for the blue ribbons he had won in India. Mr. Ross lived across the Harlem river, but his business took him daily to the lower part of New York. Invariably he was accompanied to his office by the bull terrier. As it was known that he always came down town on the elevated railroad, his friends wondered, knowing the embargo placed upon dogs, how he procured transit for the bull terrier.

Their repeated questioning finally persuaded him to reveal the secret, and he invited them all to the office one evening just as he was starting for home. He took out of his desk a stout piece of wrapping paper and, opening it out flat, spread it on the floor. Then he whistled to the dog, and the bull terrier walked to the center of the paper and curled up in a limp lump. Mr. Ross then produced a piece of stout cord and made a very neat parcel of his pet and tucked it under his arm.

"I have carried this parcel up and down town for two years," he said, "and no one has ever had the faintest suspicion of its animated contents. Clive is so well trained that he never makes a sound or moves a muscle. I leave a little opening at one end of the package, so that he has plenty of air."

The Eagle and the Turkey.

The turkey is our great national bird. Instead of the eagle, which I don't take much stock in. Turkeys are good to eat. Eagles are only fit to put as stamps on coin. The eagle is a ravenous, vicious thief. There is nothing brave or good about the eagle. The eagle cannot be tamed and is of no earthly use to any one anywhere at any time or place. A hawk is braver than the eagle. If the eagle had the courage in proportion to his size of the sparrow, he would be a wonder.

It was a mistake—a sad, pitiful blunder—to make the eagle our national bird. And a movement should be put on foot now to place the turkey on our coins and remove the eagle from where he has no business to be. A bird so useless should not be worshipped as the eagle is. The turkey is a handsome and in every way a better bird. On all holiday occasions the turkey is our foremost fowl and furnishes the most amount of delicious food. Thanksgiving and the Christmas holidays would be lonesome without the turkey.—Practical Poultryman.

Called His Papa Down.

Little Willy is a bright boy and a saucy boy. His apt answers have often turned away wrath and often turned it upon him strongly. The other day his father was reprimanding him for some misdeed, and Willy was answering very saucily.

The father became very angry and, seizing the youngster by the collar, said: "See here, young man, you must not talk like that to me. I never gave my father impudence when I was a boy."

Willy was not feazed at all. With a cherubic smile he looked into papa's eyes and said, "But, papa, maybe your father didn't need it." 'Twas all off. Willy escaped punishment, while papa retired to another room.—Albany Journal.

In Trouble.

Mrs. Turtle-dove—Do you know, dear, I'm afraid Harry does not love me the way he used to.

Mrs. Kiss-me—You do not mean to say he is cross to you?

Mrs. Turtle-dove—No, but he says that he is hankering for a square meal; that he'll starve to death if he does not get away from a chafing dish diet before long. And he used to be so enthusiastic over the things I cooked in the chafing dish when he came to see me! Men are so changeable!—Boston Transcript.

Waiting For His Turn.

"Speaking of drinking as a cause for headaches," said an old practitioner, "reminds me of a trip I took several years ago with a special train full of western physicians going to the annual meeting of the American Medical association in Philadelphia.

"On such occasions as this, with perhaps 150 physicians congregated in a special train, a good many manufacturers of wines, liquors and carbonated waters are anxious for the opportunity of putting bottled goods on ice, with a representative in charge to see that samples are dispensed at just the right temperature.

"On this particular occasion I remember that one firm dealing in mineral waters had an especially competent agent on board the train. Dinner was just over in the dining car, tables had been put up in nearly every section of the sleepers and champagne corks were popping. Redder liquors were on all sides, and the rattle of cracked ice was nearly as loud as the clicking of the trucks.

"It was just at this juncture that this especial agent for the mineral waters made his hit. He recognized that it was not his deal, and he started through the train, beginning at the rear end of the baggage car. With a profound bow to all present he said: 'Good night, gentlemen, good night, but I'll see you in the morning!'

"He went through the train with that, making the hit of the whole trip. My greatest wonder at it, too, has been that it has not been seized upon as an illustrated advertisement for his house."—Chicago Tribune.

His Only Real Pleasure.

"What good does your money do you, Mr. Armour?" a friend once asked P. D. Armour, according to the Washington Star.

"That is a question," Mr. Armour replied, "I often ask myself. I was raised a butcher boy. I learned to love work for work's sake. I must get up early now, as I have done all my life, and when 9 o'clock comes, no matter what's going on at home, I must get to bed. And here I am. Yes; I have large means, as you say, but I can't eat as much as yonder clerk. I can't sleep as much, and I can hardly wear any more clothes than he. The only real pleasure I can get out of life that yonder clerk with his limited means cannot get is the giving now and then to some deserving fellow without a soul knowing it $500 or $1,000, giving him a fresh start upward without making the gift a hurt to him. That's the only real pleasure I get out of life. And as to possessions, the only thing I sometimes feel I really own are my two boys and my good name. Take everything else from me, leave me them, and I would yet be rich. I wouldn't care a snap for the rest. We would soon together make enough to keep the wolf a long way from our door."

Free to Speak His Mind.

Old Dr. X. never enjoyed the reputation of being a religious man. In fact, his belief in the sincerity of things spiritual, as expressed by the world at large, was usually summed up by the words poppycock, folderol and the like, uttered in a contemptuous snort. Meeting one day a minister of the vicinity in which he lived, he was reminded of the fact that the minister had but lately inherited, through the death of a relative, a considerable sum of money.

"Mr. D.," he said, addressing the gentleman in question, "I understand that you have acquired quite a considerable fortune from the dear departed, your uncle."

"From my cousin, Dr. X.," corrected Mr. D., a trifle disconcerted.

"Then I am to understand that you are no longer dependent upon the charity of your congregation for support?" continued the doctor.

Mr. D. bowed stiffly in acknowledgment.

"Then, Mr. D.," whispered the old man eagerly, "give 'em hades!"—New York Mail and Express.

The Squeaking Shoe No More.

"Squeaking shoes," said a dealer, "are no more, though of course you haven't noticed it. Stop a minute, though, and think. Isn't it true that for years you haven't come across a squeaking shoe? The thing that caused the trouble was a loose piece of leather in the sole. This, as you walked, worked somewhat like a bellows or an accordion, and great was the sound thereof. All shoes are now sewed—many of them used to be pegged—and sewing does away with any loose pieces of leather in the sole and, therefore, with the squeak as well. I don't believe that if you searched a week you would be able to find a squeaking shoe in Philadelphia."—Philadelphia Press.

No Venture About It.

"Is this your first venture in matrimony?" the preacher asked while the bridegroom was out in the vestibule giving certain instructions to the best man, who was also his head clerk.

"My dear Mr. Goodleigh," she replied, almost blushing, "this isn't a venture at all. He has given me deeds to more than $60,000 worth of property already."—Chicago Times-Herald.

Inherited.

"Pa," said little Willie, looking up from his arithmetic, "what is a linear foot?"

"Why—er—a linear foot," replied pa, temporizing, "why, it's one that's hereditary. Didn't you never hear tell of a linear descendant?"—Catholic Standard and Times.

Both of the sons of Thomas Jefferson were members of congress from Virginia while he was president. One of these was Thomas Mann Randolph and the other John W. Eppes.

OVERBURDENED.

The Egyptian woman looks greatly overburdened, and yet the physical burdens she carries will not compare with the burdens borne by many an American woman. There is no burden like the burden of disease. The woman who suffers from inflammation or ulceration, bearing-down pains, weak back and nervousness, bears a burden which crushes her very life.

Every woman should know that Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription makes weak women strong and sick women well. It cures the womanly diseases which cause weakness and feebleness. It quiets the nerves, cures the aching back and throbbing head, and gives strength for wifely cares and maternal duties.

"When I first wrote to you I was in a bad condition, and had almost given up," says Mrs. Bella Snider, of Wilkesville, Vinton Co., Ohio. "I was suffering from female trouble of the worst kind; I couldn't eat anything without suffering great distress; throat hurt me by spells; was nervous and weak. Had numb hands and arms, heart trouble, pains all through my body and aching head and neck. It seemed that I could not work at all. I got Dr. Pierce's medicine and took it as directed, and the first week it began to help me. I took three bottles and am glad to say that it did me more good than all the other medicine I ever took. I feel better than I have for years."

Dr. Pierce's Medical Adviser, in paper covers, is sent free on receipt of 21 one-cent stamps to pay expense of mailing only, or if cloth bound volume is desired, send 31 stamps. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

Wright-Hardon.

On Wednesday evening in Channing church took place the wedding of Miss Margaret Hardon, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry C. Hardon, and Mr. James Hayden Wright of Detroit.

Decorations of palms, potted ferns and plants, together with a profusion of lilies, greatly beautified the interior of the edifice. The ceremony was performed at 8. Rev. F. B. Hornbrooke, D. D. officiating.

The bride's dress, made in Paris, was of white crepe de chine, trimmed with chiffon. Her tulle veil was caught up with a sprig of orange blossoms and she wore a sunburst-of-diamonds brooch, the gift of the groom. She carried bride roses.

Miss Marion Wright, sister of the groom, was maid of honor and the bride's only attendant. Her gown was of white chiffon over white silk and she carried pink bridesmaid roses.

Mr. Kenneth W. Hardon, brother of the bride's best man. The groom wore Mr. Henry W. Hardon of New York. Dr. Robert W. Hardon of Chicago, brothers of the bride, Dr. C. E. Briggs of Cleveland, Mr. Walter S. Hawkins of Boston, Mr. Amos Walker of Boston and Mr. F. H. Stewart of Boston, Mr. Frank Sill Rogers of St. Peter's Episcopal church of Albany, N. The large number of wedding gifts assumed a cosmopolitan character, representing many European countries in which the bride has traveled during the past five years. The bride has many friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Wright will enjoy an extended wedding tour and at its conclusion will make their home in Boston.

Song Recital.

Miss Lucie Tucker contralto, assisted by Mr. Leon Van Vliet, cello, and Miss Lucy C. Allen, piano, gave a song recital at the Newton Club on Tuesday evening last.

Miss Tucker has a most noble voice of great power and range and wonderfully even in both lower and upper registers. Her light voice in such songs as the Richard Strauss "Serenade" and in some of the "Sea Pictures" was delightful, and she sang Mrs. Beache's "The Year at the Spring" and Chadwick's "Sweetheart" with great breadth and fire. Miss Tucker's stage presence is commanding and dignified and she charmed her audience from the start.

Mr. Van Vliet played his solos in his usual finished manner and was heartily recalled after his group of solos.

Miss Allen who played in place of Mr. Fairbanks, who was unable to appear on account of a death in his family did her work at very short notice and in a most musically manner, some of Miss Tucker's accompaniments being extremely difficult.

It was altogether one of the best concerts given in Newton this winter.

Death of Michael McDonald.

Mr. Michael McDonald, a long time resident of West Newton, died at his residence on a therry street at 1.15 a. m. today aged 80 years. Mr. McDonald was a successful contractor for many years. He is survived by 5 daughters and 2 sons.

Funeral services will be held from St. Bernard's church, Tuesday morning at nine o'clock.

SCHOOL BOARD.

MATTERS OF ROUTINE BUSINESS RECEIVE CONSIDERABLE ATTENTION—PETITION FOR CONTINUANCE OF SINGLE SESSION IN BIGELOW DISTRICT.

About the first item of interest considered after the school board session opened Wednesday evening, was the announcement that $2,601.24 had been received as the dog tax of 1900 and credited to the school board account. In reply to Mr. Howes' query Mrs. Sherwood said the figures showed an increase of $50 over 1899. They seldom varied from year to year, she added.

The communication of the board of aldermen relative to orders recently passed by that body authorizing plans for several school houses was referred to the committee on school houses.

Miss Virginia Lyons resigned her position as teacher of Stoyd in the Hyde school, Newton Highlands, having received a flattering offer from the Boston school authorities. Miss Ruth A. Ayers was appointed her successor.

The committee on school houses was granted further time on its report regarding an evening school at Newton Centre.

The requests of the Social Science club and of the Newton Centre Women's club for use of the Jackson and Rice school buildings respectively, in which to conduct summer schools, were received and the necessary permission granted.

Soon after discussion of the joint report of members of the school board and the board of aldermen relative to the needs of school houses in different parts of the city, (already published in full in the GRAPHIC) was opened, the board went into executive session.

It was on Mr. Gorham's motion that this action was taken. It is always Mr. Gorham who makes this motion, or has for the last few sessions, and to him the reporters are indebted for being relieved from a large amount of uninteresting debate.

Finally it was voted to receive this report.

A large number of parents of the Bigelow district petitioned for a continuance of the one session plan at the Bigelow building. The superintendent was authorized to give this matter earnest attention and present a written report at the board's May meeting.

SUPERINTENDENT FIFIELD'S REPORT.

In his monthly report Mr. Fifield said in substance:

"The spring term of the schools opened April 8th with increased attendance in the Kindergarten and primary grades.

"The High school is remarkable in having a membership of over 700, in a city of less than 34,000 inhabitants, and in retaining its numbers with small losses throughout the year.

"The following assistant teachers having temporary appointments have withdrawn, Miss Mabel A. Foster of the Underwood primary, Miss Mabel G. Emerson of the Adams kindergarten. Their places will be filled by competent substitutes for the balance of the school year.

"When the proposed new school buildings are completed in different villages those sections of the city will be properly accommodated for a long term of years, and will be able to have classes averaging only 35 pupils to each teacher, which is not an ideal, but a practical condition so long as the tendency is toward a shorter school year, a shorter school day, and a long school program.

"Owing to the unusual duration of cold and wet weather we have been compelled to use an extraordinary amount of fuel since Jan. 1, 1901. When bills already incurred are paid, there will be a balance of nearly $3500, as compared with about $4000 a year ago. Under these conditions we shall be unable to purchase and store in the summer vacation, which is the proper time to put in our fuel, a quantity of coal equal to the capacity of our bins. We shall, therefore, another winter, as in the past, be compelled to purchase coal in small quantities, when the price is rising, and the quality is not equal to that which we obtain in the summer, besides being subject to the risk of having to close our more schools in case of a sudden strike or blizzard. This condition of things could be remedied by a different apportionment of the appropriation for fuel by the City Government, involving an addition to the sum this year, but not increasing the aggregate.

Police Paragraphs.

The department members drew for annual vacations at headquarters, Tuesday afternoon.

Peter T. Keeley has been appointed a special police officer for duty during vacations of regular patrolmen.

Persistence, oftentimes a virtue, was something of a vice in the case of the little Upper Falls boy who found so much excitement in ringing needless alarms from box 622. On Monday there was another call from this box. It was his hand that caused the trouble, and it was shown that he had done so before. A severe reprimand will, it is hoped, have a lasting effect upon him.

Patrolman and Mrs. Richard J. Goode are receiving congratulations on the birth of a daughter.

In court Wednesday morning, Stephen Elliot of Needham complained of John L. Sullivan of Newton Centre for larceny. Elliot's story was that he met Sullivan while coming out from Boston to Newtonville last Saturday night. From Newtonville square they rode in an electric as far as Homer street. Then they walked and had gone but a short distance when Sullivan, Elliot alleged, turned on him and forcibly relieved him of a bundle containing five pounds of meat and a quart of whiskey. There were government witnesses to substantiate the story. One was a constable who saw the two on the car, the other a motorman who saw a scuffle and one man take a bundle from another, and Patrolman Groth, who came to Elliot's assistance. Sullivan was found guilty and sentenced to three months in the house of correction. At first he appealed and then withdrew it and went down.

Sergeant Clay and a squad of division 1 patrolmen descended upon the house of James W. Feely on Derby street about 6, Tuesday evening, and arrested Elizabeth Feely, his wife, William H. Fitzpatrick and John E. Fitzpatrick. In court the officers described the disturbance that was in progress and told of the drunken condition of each defendant. Further they had some pretty hard things to say concerning the reputation of Feely's house. All were found guilty and these sentences imposed: James W. Feely for drunkenness $10, for disturbance $15, for keeping a disorderly house 2 months in the house of correction, he appealed; Elizabeth Feely for drunkenness 3 months in the house of correction and $5 fine for disturbance, she appealed; W. H. Fitzpatrick $10 for drunkenness and $15 for disturbance, he appealed; John E. Fitzpatrick $10 for drunkenness.

Do You?

Want some new music? Order The Boston Sunday Herald at once and get a complete piece of music. Just the right size for your piano, with a beautiful and artistic title page, and printed on heavy paper.

The following clever rhyme formed the menu at the 19th annual dinner of the Newton Bicycle Club, held at the Revere House, Boston, last Saturday.

ON THE BANKS OF THE CHARLES, IN A CITY CALLED NEWTON, THERE IS A CLUB, AND IT IS CALLED THE NEWTON BICYCLE CLUB.

In Eighty-Two this Club was new, It's still alive in Nineteen Two. We met tonight the table round, While laugh and shout make joyful sound. Let no sad faces here be seen, We'll keep our memory ever green. We'll toast the future, toast the past, As long as time this Club shall last.

But stop a moment, watery cloisters, Send in shells delicious OYSTERS. Use the small fork when you eat 'em, Food for gods, no food can beat 'em. Now Hoop it up, let tongues keep wagging, That joy and fun shall know no flagging.

We'll sing a song, or tell a story, How Wilson, on the field of glory, Just caught a glimpse of raven curls, And left the ranks to fight with girls.

But here's a break! Now make a swoop And fill yourselves with steaming SOUP. Not in the soup, nor in a muss, This time, at least, the soup's in us.

Do you remember what a lark We had one night at Woodland Park? That tally-ho! that jolly crew! Those trumpet notes that Tucker blew! When still gets mad and he always hollers, He shouted well at that ten dollars.

But here's the waiter with his dishes, This time he's bringing toothsome FISHES. Eat fish, my boy, don't go to college, For fish makes brain, with brain comes knowledge. Be foxy, boys, don't pass this dish, Just make us think you live on fish.

"Tis night! Charles River! On a steamer, A bob-tailed thing they called 'The Screamer,' We proudly ploughed the placid waters, Elate with joy, no fear to thwart us; For never once we thought of danger, We passed on as usual, and a stranger, Ker Chung! What's that? By George we were grounded.

We stood aghast, alarmed, astounded, Some were for jumping, some for rowing And Benson kept the whistle blowing. "Don't blow that whistle!" "Get an oar out!" "Blank, blank it, blank it!" The Captain swore out. We pulled and pushed her led by Stall, Alas, she wouldn't move at all. A yacht approaches, filled with girls, We laughing eyes and teeth of pearls, They throw line, they tug and pull her; We cheered them, led by Herbert Fuller.

We're off! We're rescued! Thanks be given! We're saved by angels straight from Heaven! Did we repay them? Well I think it! We passed out beer and saw them drink it. We gave them ice cream, cake and candy, They'd had the ice if it was handy. Dear maidens, when you next sail away, Pray let us know; we'll get aground.

But here comes Meat! By all the Dickens I think they're bringing youthful CHICKENS. That's good! a Merrythought he's bringing, Here's a thought he's bringing to singing. All sing of days now swiftly flying, What odds if ancient coos are dying. We were once once were loud and tuneful, For instance, once, when at the moonful We walked the beach, at old Nantasket. "Our ladies? Yes? How can you ask it? Our ladies' men had such a Martha, Nor left alone was gallant Arthur."

More Meat! What are, TURKEY, give us plenty! Let's play that we are one and twenty. Gray hairs await! Bald heads become, We're boys again, we'll all be sworn, Next thing you know we'll all be striding That thing in wheels, that's made for riding.

ICE CREAM! and PIE! and CAKE with frosting! Pitch in, my boy, nor mind the costing. Here's nuts and raisins, cheese and fixings, Your stomachs may not stand these mixings, But where's the odds! To-morrow's Sunday. Oh! the week this is the one day, That we the precious time can find to Just sleep as late as we've a mind to.

Our time is fleeting, soon it reaches That awful time of prosy speeches. Please cut 'em short, 'tis time for thinking, We never have a time for drinking. For we are pure, as pure as coral, And strangers are to judge us immoral. We'll have no banquets if we're not dry, Save only when we introduce it on the fly.

We'll drink our farewell toast in Adam's ale, Before this drink all other drinks must pale. We'll cool it down with junks of broken ice, And think, yes think, 'tis very, very nice.

Long live our Club, we'll keep its memory green, Till we, alas, shall leave this earthly scene; We'll stand together, brothers, hand in hand, A firm united, true and happy band. Pledge each for all and all for every one, As long as we our course shall run. Now, brothers, let your voices free, And give to "NEWTON" three and three times three.

Good for Rheumatism.

Last fall I was taken with a very severe attack of muscular rheumatism which caused me great pain and annoyance. After trying several prescriptions and rheumatism cures, I decided to try Chamberlain's Pain Expeller, which I had seen advertised in the South Jerseyman. After two applications of this Remedy I was much better, and after using one bottle, was completely cured. I am, I think, hale and hearty. J. F. For sale by all druggists.

Disposed of Worthless Checks.

There are two acts of swindling, the perpetrator of which has thus far eluded capture, that are being investigated by the police. The operator is described as a middle aged, mild mannered and altogether respectable appearing man.

One day he called upon Miss Agnes B. Trowbridge of Peabody street, Newton, and represented that he would like to become a member of the orchestral association in which she was prominent and also that he was willing to purchase tickets for the concert to be given by her.

Miss Trowbridge accepted and said the entire cost would be about $5.50. The man tendered a check for $10.00 and the young lady gave him a $5 bill in change.

It was later discovered that the check was worthless, but all efforts to find the swindler proved futile.

Mrs. May S. Ruggles, music teacher of 211 Church street, was swindled out of $4 by a similar trick. A man, answering the same description, called upon her to secure tuition for his niece. He said she would take $20 worth of piano lessons and to close the bargain gave Mrs. Ruggles a check for $25.75. She was able to return but $4 in change, and thereupon the man said she could keep the balance and give it to his niece when she came. This was the last seen of the man.

Mrs. Ruggles cannot recall the incident without smiling for she says the man requested of her that the counsel his niece who was very foolish about spending money.

NOTES.

The play is along conventional lines until Trick 5, where East plays properly in finessing his partners' 10.

Trick 6. West promptly forces out the adverse trump, and the rest of the hand plays itself.

In all probability the failure of the E and W pairs at the other tables was due to a failure by East to finesse the heart 10, or it may have been caused by the failure of West to force out the last trump.

The Spring Tournament of the New England Whist Association will be held at the Hotel Vendome, Boston, on Friday and Saturday, May 10-11. Sessions for open pairs will be held each day at 10:15 a. m., 2 and 7:30 p. m. A table fee of 50 cents is charged for each person. Newton is represented on the various committees by Mrs. M. L. Messer and Messrs. W. E. Hickox, C. F. Gilman and J. C. Brimblecom. An enjoyable meeting is anticipated by whist enthusiasts and it is hoped that a large number will be present from this city.

Sale of Nonantum Mills.

There was a second auction at the Nonantum Worsted Mills huge plant in Nonantum last Saturday morning.

On Feb. 25 last, Eugene Ames of Boston was the highest bidder at a sale and his bid of $191,500 was accepted. There was and is a mortgage of $158,000. Mr. Ames failed to comply with the terms of the sale and as a result there was another auction last Saturday.

The purchaser then was Walter A. Webster of Boston, representing other interests, to whom the plant was knocked for $137,100. The terms are $10,000 down, $25,000 May 1, and the balance May 15. The unpaid taxes amount to $2820.

Christian Endeavor Notes.

"Compensation" is the subject for discussion next Sunday at the meeting of the Y. P. C. U. of Newtonville. The leader will be Miss Annie J. Sampier.

The social of the West Newton C. E. which was held Wednesday evening, April 17th, proved to be a decided success. The society was entertained by a number of selections on the program and the entertainment was caused by the game of "Telegrams." Cards having five or six letters on them were distributed, each person trying to make a telegram of words beginning with the letters. One telegram the letters of which were S. T. K. P. T. U. came out, "Send ten kittens; put tails upmost." Refreshments were served after the entertainment.

The subject for next Sunday's meeting of the Wesleyan Hills C. E. is "The one suggestion," by the United Society "Fidelity to Pledge." Miss Mattie S. Hardison leads.

The meeting of the Middlesex County Union at South Framingham on Friday, April 19, was well worth attending, and it is a great pity that so small a representation was there. The special car could not be arranged for, because of the small number who expressed their intention of going. This, of course was very disappointing both to the Social committee and to those who did attend the meeting. Why cannot we, out of our 800 members, find at least a car-full to attend such a meeting? Grace church was well-filled largely, very likely, from the local union, which is composed of eighteen societies in the towns of southern Middlesex, near South Framingham. The addresses were exceedingly helpful. Our own Dr. Daniels gave a most interesting one in the afternoon on "The New Spirit of Service."

More than thirty representatives of the Newton C. E. Union were present at the Middlesex County C. E. convention at So. Framingham Patriot's Day. The church was full in the afternoon and crowded in the evening. Tables were set for supper for eight hundred. A gavel made from a limb of Apostle John Eliot's oak at So. Natick was presented to the district secretary. The convention topic was Service. The treatment of the subject was wholesome and to the point. One of the participants in the discussion on practical methods was Miss Alice I. Adams. A burlesque was in pointing out some essentials of success in public meetings held that the attitude of the hearer before, during and after the meeting was a very large element in its success or failure.

The United Society's topic for the week beginning April 28, is "Fidelity to Pledge." Ps 65:14; 61:1-8; 116:12-14. It is in the majority of societies a consecration meeting. The leader of that in the Newtonville Methodist church, Miss Nelson, in the Immanuel Baptist church, Newton, Mrs. C. V. Moore.

The leader of the Golden Rule Society, Auburndale, is to be Miss Eleanor M. Davis.

NEW SCHOOL HOUSES.

Preliminary orders for the erection of new school buildings in Auburndale and Newton Centre have been recently adopted by the Aldermen. In Auburndale, a new 8 room brick building is to be erected on the Ash street lot, and we believe the board has acted wisely in this decision. The recommendation of the conference committee for an addition to the Williams school was understood to be merely a temporary makeshift, and the final vote was virtually between the advocates of the new building at the present time and those who desired a delay of a year or two.

In Newton Centre, the Board has declared itself in favor of a new 16 room brick building on the present site of the Mason school. In this case the only matter of disagreement, (outside of the much debated architectural competition) was over the size of the building. The conference committee recommended 16 rooms, while the public property committee reported in favor of but 12, with plans to allow of future enlargement to 16. The point involved here is of considerable importance.

The public property committee believes that the growth of school population in the Mason district will ultimately result in primary schools at Chestnut Hill and in the vicinity of Walnut and Beacon streets. These outlying primary schools will undoubtedly contain one or two grammar grades and, with the new building contemplated at Thompsonville will greatly relieve the present Rice (primary) and Mason (grammar) schools in the heart of the district. The Rice school now contains 8 rooms, a rather large number for a primary school, and with a new 12 room grammar building, ought to provide ample accommodations until the proposed primaries are erected on the outskirts of the district. We fail to see the logic by which aldermen who opposed the building of a new school house at Auburndale on the ground of expense, can advocate the erection of the larger and costlier building at Newton Centre, when a 12 room building is admitted by the Supt. of Schools to be enough for present needs with 2 rooms to spare.

Attention is called to the immediate response of the aldermen to the demands of Newton Centre for a new building, in contrast to the many delays over that desired by Auburndale. In the first case, the citizens were united, had prepared an unanswerable argument, and presented their desires in a business like manner. On the other hand, the citizens were not united, the school census fluctuated, and only the perseverance of a faithful few, brought about the recent favorable action of the city government.

OPEN OR CLOSE COMPETITION.

Much discussion has taken place in City Hall of late, as to the method of selecting architects for the proposed new school building. One party earnestly advocates competition between five architects selected by the mayor, the unsuccessful candidates to be paid $100 each for their labor. Another is equally insistent that every architect should be allowed to submit plans, without compensation. A third view would limit the latter proposition to residents of Newton.

The board has voted both ways on the question. The plans for Thompsonville and Newton Centre, will be selected by unlimited competition. Auburndale will be more exclusive, and will have but five designs from which to choose. There are arguments on both sides, but we are inclined to favor those advanced by the advocates of close competition. When large sums of money, aggregating over $200,000 are to be expended in school accommodations for our children, the best is none too good. By selecting five architects of known ability in school buildings, good results are almost certain. Such architects rarely enter a contest, unless the expenses of drafting their plans are guaranteed them.

In unlimited competition, however, expenses cannot be assured, and it therefore follows that only architects will enter who can afford a possible loss of time and labor. It stands to reason, therefore, that even these architects will not put the same amount of work into plans from which they may not realize anything, as would be given by a higher grade of men whose expenses are guaranteed.

On the other hand with unlimited competition, the possible successful architect of the future may be given an opportunity to display his budding ability, and as one alderman has observed, "No one knows the dwelling place of genius."

We do not believe however, that the city of Newton should run any chances of not securing the very best plans, and therefore heartily favor the limited competition for school house designs.

An opportunity has been given to place the two kinds of competition side by side, and the quality of plans submitted for Auburndale and Newton Centre will be eagerly awaited by the advocates of each method.

OUR PAN AMERICAN TRIPS.

We have received many inquiries as to the number of votes necessary to obtain one of our free excursions to Buffalo and Niagara Falls, during the coming summer. The opportunity is open to every pupil in the High school and our excursions will be awarded to the four pupils, who by new subscriptions (50 votes each) or by coupons (one vote each) are credited with the largest number of votes at our office on July 8th, 1901. We have decided however in order to give a definiteness to our proposition to impose a minimum figure of 500 votes. This figure only requires ten new subscribers, and can easily be obtained by the pupil who earnestly desires to accept our offer. The modified conditions will be found in full on page 2.

THE CHARLES RIVER BASIN.

We fail to see any valid reason for delay in granting the petition of Henry L. Higginson and others for the appointment of a commission to consider the feasibility of constructing a dam near the West Boston or Craigie bridges. The recent replies from United States officials would seem to allay any objection from that quarter, and the knowledge to be obtained from the investigation would be worth the cost.

This city is interested in any attempt to improve and beautify the Charles river, and while only a small portion of the city adjoins the portion of the river affected by the proposed dam, we have no doubt but what the whole city would gladly assume our proportionate part of the expense.

IMMIGRATION.

We invite attention to the able and interesting address on this subject, which will be found in another column. Mrs. Sinkhovich, its author, brings to the subject a thorough knowledge of sociology, obtained by study at home and abroad, and practical experience in the College Settlement of New York City. The subject embraces many problems, all of which are stated fully and distinctly, and is worthy of the thoughtful consideration of all interested in the future of our country.

CITIZENS of Wards 1, 2 and 7 who are interested in the youth of today, should take an active interest in the efforts now being made to obtain the contribution of $100 needed to ensure a playground on Cabot Park. The contribution must be completed by May 15th, and every day saved before that date will enable the work of construction to be sooner completed.

The Aldermen are studiously inconsistent in the matter of architects for school buildings, having voted one way for Auburndale and another for Newton Centre. Moreover, motions to reconsider each of these votes were decisively defeated.

City Hall Notes.

Street Commissioner Ross had a number of Brockton city officials under escort last Thursday, and showed them about the city streets.

Commissioner of Buildings Elder is preparing for the expenditure of $200, recently appropriated by the board of aldermen, for repairs on the Co C rifle range at Woodland.

It is not true that every one you meet in Commissioner of Buildings Elder's office is an architect.

This week it was decided to reject all bids for the concrete contract of 1901. There were only two bids received, one of $20,242 from Simpson Bros. corporation and of $16,685 from W. H. Mague. A change in the specifications is understood to be the reason for the new figures.

Application blanks for the civil service examination for clerks may be obtained from J. C. Brimblecom, 16 Centre place, Newton.

Mr. Wm. F. Harbach is acting chairman of the Board of Health during the absence of Dr. Curtis.

Mayor Pickard has selected the following architects to compete for the plans of the new Auburndale school house: Dwight & Chandler, Bacon & Hill, Everett & Mead, Hartwell, Richardson & Driver, and Kendall, Taylor & Stevens.

High School Notes.

The Girls' Drill will take place on Saturday, April 27th, at 3 o'clock in the Drill hall at Newtonville. Following is the order of events: 1. battalion march; 2. Swedish Day's Order; 3. English extension drill; 4. officers' march; 5. wand and dumb bell drill; 6. fencing drill; 7. Indian club swinging; 8. dumb-bell drill, free hand exercises; 9. battalion formation; 10. salute; 11. dismissal of battalion. Selections by the High school band. Dancing will follow.

The Gamma Beta Club held a dance at Ralph McLeilan's house last Friday night at 8 o'clock. An orchestra from Boston enjoyed their excursion into the Museum last Saturday afternoon very much and professed themselves delighted with Foxy Quillier. Rolfe and Richards conducted the affair.

Last Friday Tufts 2nd played Newton at N. A. A. grounds and defeated them by the score of 15-8. Newton's team work was wretched.

Newton redeemed itself somewhat in the Roxbury Latin game defeating the visitors by the score 12-1.

The entries of the tennis tournament to be held at Cambridge in May are very large this year, over twenty-five having already entered from this school.

A request has been received from some of the girls to have the assistants that helped out last Thursday retained for the girls' drill, but we fear they are too modest.

Newton was to play Ballou and Hobligand last Wednesday, but as some of the boys couldn't swim the game was declared off. If the present pleasant weather holds out Newton will play Cambridge Manual Training school on Friday, April 26. A game is also scheduled with Volkman for April 29.

Newton Club.

The usual gentlemen's whist tomorrow night.

An account of the song recital last Tuesday night will be found in another column.

At duplicate whist last Monday night, F. M. Copeland and F. E. Marston tied with C. H. Sprague and G. A. Page for top place, each with two plus. F. H. Potter and Wm. Hollings were 1 plus.

On Wednesday night the last in the series of ladies' whists was given in the Assembly hall. Over 20 tables were in play and prizes were won by Mrs. G. K. Malby, Mrs. E. S. Merchant, Mrs. G. E. Shost, Mrs. J. E. Hullen, Mrs. E. P. Hatch, Mrs. H. C. Shaw and Mrs. F. E. Marston.

"The Players."

"The Players" will present the three-act comedy "David Garrick" on the evenings of Monday and Tuesday, April 25th and 30th, at Temple hall, Newtonville.

Death of Miss Shannon.

Miss Mary Shannon daughter of the late Oliver N. Shannon died suddenly at her home on Centre street, Newton, last Friday morning. She was in her 65th year and had spent the greater part of her life in this city. Miss Shannon was a woman of large wealth and was very charitable, giving freely to many friends in needy circumstances. She was much interested in the Pomroy Home and the Newton Hospital having been at one time a trustee of the latter institution. The deceased was a Unitarian believing in the teachings of Theodore Parker and was intensely patriotic having her flag out on all appropriate occasions. This flag was at half mast from the time of her death until after the funeral. Services were held from her late residence Monday at one o'clock and were largely attended by friends and neighbors. The floral tributes were numerous and beautiful. Rev. B. F. McDaniel of Dorchester who is pastor of the Barnard Memorial affiliated and quite lengthy remarks were made by Rev. Miss Spencer and Miss Edna Cheney, both prominent Unitarians. The vocal selections rendered were by the girls from the Pomroy Home. At the close of the services the remains were removed to Mt. Auburn.

Unitarian Club.

At the annual meeting of the Unitarian Club held last week at Channing church, Newton, the following officers were elected: president, Charles A. Drew; vice presidents, Oliver M. Fisher, Bruce R. ## "THE IMMIGRANT'S CHILD."

Subject of An Interesting Address Delivered by Mrs. Mary Kingsbury Simkhovitch

Heard by an Appreciative Audience of Prominent Newton Women At Social Science Club Meeting.

The following interesting and instructive address was made at a recent meeting of the Social Science Club by Mrs. Mary Kingsbury Simkhovitch of the College Settlement of New York:

Down from the hills rushes a tiny stream clear and beautiful increasing in volume and beauty. Slightly through the calm and fertile fields flows another stream golden and wide. One day they meet. But for miles and miles the two streams flow side by side. It is only after a long companionship that the marriage of the two streams takes place and the Mississippi emerges one river powerful, carrying all before it.

From all over the world little streams of humanity are pouring into our continent. Some, joining the main current high up near the source are already an integral part of the river of American civilization. Others coming later still preserve their identity and flow side by side with the main stream.

How soon shall we see all these waters mingled together into the resistless current of national unity?

Statistics cannot tell us. History is not much help. Only the experiences we have already had can give us any light. What our immigration has been, and what the changes are that are taking place tell us something of the actual state of affairs. The difficulties of our immigration problem present another than a descriptive side. They ask us questions and make demands. They come waiting to be solved.

The process of assimilation is therefore twofold—the natural absorption that has taken place, is taking place and will continue to take place; the other, the conscious help society can give to render assimilation easier and at the same time less wasteful. What we shall think about this morning is especially the socially conscious side of assimilation based more particularly upon those changes from the parent stock that we notice in the immigrant's child.

It is not so much the immigrant himself that will interest us, as the effect of the social environment upon him and especially upon his child. Race characteristics, we shall consider rather in connection with social environment than as a study in themselves. Nevertheless it will be necessary in order to get the proper focus to see something of our immigration movement as a whole. And we shall turn first to a brief and rather dry description of the stream of immigration from the early part of the 19th Century to the present time. As this is primarily a social study we shall use as our statistics such as we can find.

Prior to 1820 there are little or no official data respecting immigration. The early statistical writers generally agree however in estimating the number of immigrants arriving in the United States from the close of the Revolutionary War to 1820 to have been 250,000. Of course we need not remind ourselves that everybody was an immigrant at a still earlier period.

But of the early revolutionary period we are not thinking. Indeed the elements of our nation we think of as immigrants. Nor do we look ahead to the time, ages to come, when our land shall be seen in process of making for the future of years. The early period of immigration, when the first families of day after tomorrow.

An analysis of immigration by nationalities shows remarkable changes in the proportions during the last century. In the first forty years from 1820 to 1860 over one half of the entire immigration was from England and Ireland, and over one third was from Ireland. During the decade of 1841 to 1850 the Irish immigration rose in fact to such a figure that it was over 45 per cent. of the total. The German immigration reached its highest proportionate point in the decade 1851 to 1860 when it constituted 28 per cent. of the whole.

Since 1860 the highest Irish and German immigration has decreased in relative importance, and that from the south and east of Europe has become more important. The early period of immigration, when the Irish and German elements predominated so largely, quite a large proportion were agriculturists, mechanics and skilled laborers. A number of them were recruited from this class. At one period early in the century (I was unable to ascertain the exact date) all the book-sellers in Philadelphia but two were foreign. And the five newspapers in that city two were owned by Englishmen and two by Irishmen. But succeeding to this class of immigrants came an influx of people who helped to form the immigrant classes, added to the memory of the immigrant class in vogue at Philadelphia at that time (Arthur Hyde).

The early hordes of immigrants came here impelled by the desire of escape from Ireland by the famine; in Germany by commercial depression, and of course the discovery of gold in California helped to accelerate the movement and to open up the vast west. Within the memory of many now living it was a common sight to see the ships unladen—and the German emigrants fresh from their ocean voyage embarking on the prairie wagons for a quiet as perilous journey into the vast unknown territories lying west of the Mississippi.

The west and the northwest owe their rapid development to the perseverance of these aliens. The prosperity of this country and the working of its vast resources would have been retarded no one knows how long had it not been for these sturdy foreigners who so soon have become an integral part of our national being.

During six years from 1847 to 1854 there went west two and a half millions of persons when the entire population did not exceed 25,000,000. 80 per cent. of the immigrants of this period were Irish and German. It was in 1868 that the Scandinavian influx began, the most decided impress of this immigration being left on the northwest. In 1880 began the immigration from Russia and Austria-Hungary and Italy. At present the Italian immigration is the strongest.

There are still whole villages in the northwest where English is not spoken, but still I think we are quite safe in saying that taken in the large, we have no longer an Irish problem, a German problem or a Scandinavian problem. We have an immigration problem of course wherever we have a political municipal problem; but this is rather a problem of the indifferent cultured and moneyed American than it is of the powerful Irish politician. When I say that there is no Irish, German or Scandinavian problem, I mean there is no hard stone in the stomach of the nation that won't dissolve. These three races then we may dismiss from our mind except as we meet them in considering municipal problems.

In fact the question of immigration can as a whole be translated pretty fairly into a question of congestion. We have an immigration question in a solid mining community, in a solid compact city, in a solid community, and in the large cities. But we have no immigration agricultural question. The country has done its work of absorption. And of course the whole problem lies with the cities. The cities are the source of the problem. For under the institution of slavery, there was no room for free labor and the tide of immigration has little to turn it southward.

When one turns to New York it is with a double feeling. One of relief, because one knows that in a way New York is strongly untypical of the rest of the country; and one of apprehension for New York which is so untypical is yet the key of the country. Its influence is felt widely beyond its boundaries.

It is not only conspicuous but also nervously associated with the industrial and commercial life of the continent. How New York solves its problems affects in one way or another every smaller centre in the country.

"Show me an American!" whispered to me a foreign friend of mine on an electric car one day. I'm the nearest to it I have to answer. You can find it in the South American lady who came to New York to learn English and having gained, as she supposed, a complete mastery of our language returned home speaking a fluent German.

When one considers that New York is the third largest German city in the world, that our politics are kindly attended to for us by the ever ready and obliging Irishman, that there are certainly over 100,000 Italians pouring in every year in increasing numbers; when one recalls that in New York we have not only one Ghetto and at least two little Italys, but that we have a Syrian quarter, and a Chinese quarter, besides distinct settlements of Greeks, all varieties of Slavs, Magyars, Croats, and a floating American population, a French quarter, and a German quarter, it is not surprising that the city is the center of the world.

What happens to the immigrant after he lands at the harbor? Where does he disappear? What of him the day after he lands and what of his child? Most of the newcomers have friends waiting for them. It is worth while to go down and see a welcome home to a thousand memories tucked away under its sods. This little patch of bright green always seems to give an especially warm welcome to the Irish girl. Overlooking the harbor and the harbor is a pretty old yellow house with a balcony running around it with the inscription "Mission of Our Lady of the Rosary." This is the most picturesque of all the societies for the protection of the incoming immigrant girl.

It is obvious that of all the immigrants, the Irish and German feel most at home on landing. There is a little chapel at the foot of the Rock of the Rosary, where the Faith is, there the devout Catholic is at home. These girls almost all come to go into domestic service. They are by no means trained, but Father Henry, the director, tells me there is no difficulty whatever in getting places for them. On the other hand the demand is so great that practically good wages are paid at once. The Irish girl is a good deal more than a domestic servant. She has a general opinion that the girls who can get good wages at once, are not going to wait to get trained if they can begin to earn money home immediately. The Irish girl does not remain a greenhorn long. It is only a question of a few months at most when the latest styles are adopted by her. This is in the way of her friends. She has no difficulty of language to overcome. In fact she has simply stepped from old poverty stricken Ireland into new stylish Ireland. She is at home. There is no moral sweatshop trade here and there, as in Jewish shoe shops and little dry goods stores dot the avenues. German groceries and bakeries and delicatessen shops give a new life to the immigrant. The Irish quarter is most strongly stamped by the Irish. Our own Settlement gives a vivid example of the exclusiveness of the Irish race, who try their best to keep out the others. What it is based on is hard to see. But every Irishman is a patriot by temperament. He must be a patriot of something even if he is constitutionally against the governing power. He is an anarchist patriot so to speak, against what others do, but in favor of his own ideas, which however, never seem to get clearly defined. He is eloquent, but it is eloquence pure and simple that is his forte, not eloquence for a purpose.

The deepest things in him seem to hang about his inspiration for conversation. His art is the conversational art. His purpose, companionship. His life, friendship. His life is a social sense uncorrelated to a purpose. I believe his success in politics is due to this gift for companionship. Where eloquence is needed, or where friendship is needed, or where companionship is needed, he is there. It is bound to do in a democracy; there the Irishman rises. Truth compels us to reflect that these are his principal avenues of advancement. Economic questions are not his. He is not primarily interested in the young Irishmen. And as for the girls—these girls of the 2d generation, public affairs hardly exist for them. The character of our educational system is seen in the answers to some questions I asked recently in one of our working girls' clubs. I was having a little talk on what is somewhat technically and pompously called "the future of the girl." The girls were between 17 and 23 years of age. They had of course gone to school only till they were 14—the legal working age. They had therefore had no opportunity to forget much of what they knew and that was not much. Still was a little startled on asking "do you know where there is any more work?" to hear one girl reply: "Yes, with the Boers in England." Then I asked if we were at war with anybody? "Nobody knew and finally somebody hazarded 'in Indiana.'" Being willing to be trained for it, I added considerable taste, every one has quite an impressive manner and some social charm.

The Irish, as I have said, do not make an American problem. But they do make a social problem. The shiftless system and Irish, their lack of purpose, their lack of serious ambition in any line, their readiness to get into rows, their fondness for alcohol and their inability to drink without succumbing to its effects, their lack of restraint, all these make the Irish the most difficult to deal with. The organized charities feel the heavy weight of the problem. The feeling is difficult to correct, but initiative or ambition. The Irish do not want anything. Life is attractive enough to them just simply as existence. In New York I feel from all the evidence that the Irish are no improvement on the Irish in the first. The first had no objection to domestic service or to day labor. The second wants a higher class of job without being willing to be trained for it. Added to the lack of ambition and indeed entering into it as an integral part must be noticed all those psychological and physical changes that are coming in part a more highly developed industrial system and partly to the deteriorating effect of tenement house life.

The types of manhood growing up in New York are certainly no improvement on those of the preceding generation. We cannot understand anything about the immigrant's child in New York unless we consider somewhat closely the influence of the tenement house life. There is nowhere in the world has the tenement problem reached such a magnitude as it has in New York. And it is a terrible reflection upon the indifference and torpor of the social conscience of New York in its earlier years that these frightful monuments of cupidity and social indifference should have been allowed to exist at all.

We are all familiar with Jacob Riis' sketches of tenement houses, and in New York, you know something of the dramatic side of its evils. The fires in the tenement houses, the filth, the overcrowding, all these are familiar to us. But the real picture of New York life, and yet it is only when one has lived in a tenement house district day in and day out, when one has seen not only the evils, but also the human side of the tenement house life, the tenement that the insidious evils of life under such conditions become clear, and rise up before one like a black shadow coloring one's whole mental vision. The world of the tenement house is a world before the shadow came. The whole nervous strain of the tenement is one of its most serious features. The social friction of many people, so much noise, so many small, crowded, and ill-ventilated rooms for all sorts of excitement. All the children have a pasty look occasioned by late hours, improper food, and insufficient opportunity for exercise. The care of the hallways is generally left with the housekeeper, who acts as a kind of agent for the landlord, collecting the rents, and generally getting her rooms free of charge. The housekeepers are as a class one grade higher than the tenants in point of cleanliness and intelligence, but too often they get their positions through the help of the landlord. They are several children. She needs the job and gets it on the ground of her need, not of her capacity. The tenements are rarely visited by the police. The police and the inspectors are quite uniformly bribed by the speculative builder, who that plans infamous when within the limits of the law are still worse when finally executed.

The streets of New York are a mass of law in regard to lighting the hallways, which are often pitch dark, so that in going upstairs one climbs over children crawling about. These halls are a menace to public morality. The housekeeper, who smells come up the airshaft from tenements below, where there is no proper disposal of garbage, where vermin come in from the airshafts, where there is no attempt at enforcing the regulations of the Board of Health, how is it possible for the majority of tenants to keep up a clean and respectable way of living? The odds are too great. The children are crowded together in the hallways, and anything less than an ordinary standard of personal decency. All the bars are let down. What can enter there but a gradual deterioration of the race? The evils of the tenement house, are the evils which infect the tenement from other social causes.

Then a crusade against vice a few years ago in New York, when the houses of ill fame, it scattered the women all over town into the apartments and the tenements. The poor of the tenements who have lived everything to endure in the form of badly constructed houses, and who are protected from the contaminating influence of these women, who accustom their children to sights and sounds that dull the sensibility and weaken the moral sense of all young people who come in contact with them. Children are employed to hand out cards to the passers by. The parents are too hard up to be able to refuse money, no matter how dishonestly it is obtained. Prostitutes give out their wares to the tenement house women, send the children on errands, and in fact are of such economic value that the tenement house dwellers are not so ready to get rid of them. They are on the other unwilling to appear against them on account of their economic utility to them.

The dark picture of tenement house life is likely to continue, we can hope under more favorable conditions, as long as there are fresh immigrants to go to the rescue of the tenement house. The day after the Italian lands he is in the shop. The constant fresh supply of labor helps to depress the already low wage. The workers feel that they must take it, and so they work 20 out of the 24 hours.

The Broadway manufacturer relies on the competing bids of the contractors. The home shop is supposed to be licensed on grounds of sanitation. Yet Dr. Annie Daniels, who for 17 years has practised exclusively in the most densely populated part of New York, says that most of the work is done without license, and that she has seen women dying of consumption sewing, while the next door neighbor, a thrifty German woman in a clean room working in a tenement. The inspector gets the license does not use it but hand it over to some friend whose home shop is never visited by the inspector. Inspectors can rarely find more than one group of people working in a tenement. The inspector's presence is made known and all signs of work disappear like magic.

We have said that our present immigration problem is neither Irish nor German. The Jew, the Slav, and the Italian, these are the three elements that confront us now. These elements are so recent that we can do little but speculate as to their effect upon our civilization. The German in the second generation is an American. His allegiance is manifest. He has introduced into our civilization a sturdy plodding quality, and has helped develop our industrial and agricultural life. The same is true of the Scandinavian element. And to some extent of the Irish who in so far

SINGLE TAX.

At a recent meeting of the Newton Single Tax Club Mr. C. B. Fillibrown offered the following as a short and hard lesson for the advanced class in Political Economy, and a nut for Newton to crack.

THE LAND VALUE OF NEWTON AN UN-TAXED VALUE.

The man having a salary of $2,000, a year would, under a flat tax of two per cent. on income, pay a tax of $40, out of that income which would be thus reduced by $40. Following the fashion of an income tax, or an inheritance tax, the man who receives a ground rent of $500, should, it would seem, under a rate of $10 per M. (even under the present deceptive system) pay $100, as a direct tax out of his income of $500. But this he does not do. For the land which yields a ground rent of $500, but is taxed for $100, a man does not pay the gross value $10,000, but that amount less $2,000, (an amount which at 5 per cent. will pay the tax of $100), i. e. he pays $8,000, an un-taxed investment of capital upon which he will get his five per cent. income, or whatever per cent. is figured as the ruling rate.

Hence the landowner not only cannot shift upon his tenants the burden of his ground rent, but he has no need to do so, and does not do so, for the best of reasons that, not being taxed at all, he has no tax to shift. The tax of the ground rent that is taken in the form of a flat tax by the tenant, is a tax but as ground rent, the natural tax. This part of the ground rent the investor in the land has never bought or paid for. What he bought and owns is the part, or under of ground rent not taken in taxation.

Thus the selling value will, with the new purchaser subsequent to the imposition of a higher tax, slip out from under the tax like a bubble of mercury from under the thumb, and we find that the only place where the tax yoke will stay put is square upon the shoulders of ground rent, what the land is worth for use, its gross value, less the tax on a proportion of ground rent, and you have a basis for assessment that is stable, in that it is a value not affected by taxation. The selling value, (and hence the value of the land for the purpose of taxation), is not the shoulders, but it is the back, or the rump, or the small of the back that will slip the yoke, as the farmers say, as soon as real estate moves.

The world of the landowner and the reasoning we are not, but driven, to the conclusion that the more than $21,000,000 of capital invested in Newton land today escapes entirely the tax which is assessed and seems to be collected upon capital invested in buildings and the happy landlord of land and buildings pays no land tax, shifts his building's tax upon his tenant, and himself entirely escapes taxation. This statement would appear to be corollary, or consequent, of the accepted economic principle that the selling value of land is reduced by the capitalized tax that is laid upon it. The world of the landowner and the reasoning we are not, but driven, to the conclusion that the only direct tax (with the sole important exceptions of incomes and inheritances) the tax which cannot be shifted or evaded, is a tax upon the assessed valuation of land, not upon the selling value of land, but upon ground rent, or its capitalized value, the gross value of land. Is not this fact a justification of the wisdom of the golden rule, "Tax nothing that can evade taxation."

THE IMMIGRANT'S CHILD.

as they are parts of a problem at all relate themselves to the whole question of municipal politics and affairs.

The Irishman in so far as he rises, rises into the contractor, the lawyer,—the Irish girl from the servant class to the shop girl, the typewriter, the grammar school teacher. The Irish woman's daughter is ashamed of her mother's profession. The scrubwoman educates her daughter to teach school.

We must then ask ourselves in regard to the Jewish, Italian, and Italian populations, not only what are their occupation but what are their ambitions. Not only what they are but what they propose to have their children be. This great tide of immigration is so recent that we can only prophesy. And yet we have the elements for more than a guess. The immigrant's child is already vastly different from his parents. He is a child of the future, not of the past. He is not a center in large cities, but about the mines or elsewhere and hence need not be considered here.

When we come to inquire about the Jewish, Italian, and Italian we find a whole world of difference.

The Italians who come here are for the most part day laborers. They come largely from the most undesirable parts of Italy considered from the point of view of intelligence and character. Our Italian immigrants are largely Neapolitans, Sicilians, Calabrians. They are very ignorant and not very ambitious. They are not too much to talk in cafes and on the street; are singularly ready to part with their children, have practically no civic conscience. Their women are docile and obedient, unambitious with few desires. They seem to have a kind of content in being. They are graceful and unconscious of their beauty. They are all good hearted and ingenuous. I was talking with perhaps the ablest of our Italian school teachers, a wife of an Italian child's parents. She said "I get no help from the Italian children's parents. They don't care whether they go to school or not. But with all this there is a great difference between the Italian and the Jew. His child's playfellows (especially if Irish, for the Irish think no race amounts to anything except the Irish) call him Dago and Guinea. He resents it, not from pride, but with shame. He wishes he were not a Dago. He is bound he'll be an American. His native fondness for color and expression have to give way to the rigid monotony of the public school system. He has to learn to live in the system, for our intelligent school plan never seems to pay any attention to native gifts. The Italian child is quick even when not deep. He is sensitive and feels himself despised. He has two distinct effects. The brutalizing and leveling system of a general system of education makes him careful to conform to the average standard. It also makes him feel that his parents are wise in not allowing him to develop his native gifts. Thus he becomes at once assimilated and lowered. We assimilate but we do it at a heavy cost. The doctrine of 'Waste not' is the best marked example.

The Italian immigrant's child is nervous about his parents' customs. He wants his mother if she must dance to waltz, not to dance the beautiful tarantella. He prefers to dance to waltz the most hideous rather than the most picturesque shawl. Prosperity, getting on, is just as much a fetish for the immigrant as it was to Andrew Carnegie. I know a young Italian girl who married according to her parents' wishes at 16. She lived near the ferry in a little dingy tenement. Her fiancé lived on 34 avenue three blocks away and belonged to quite a prosperous bootblack's family. Angeli married. And now her husband won't let her go to see her mother or even speak to her. The poor little girl afraid of her husband and admiring his position of superior commercial importance dare not disobey.

In the 2d generation Italian I see no moral improvement, on the other hand whatever change is noted is an economic one. The second generation is in fact handicapped by the tenement house conditions of which I have already spoken. The old pretty customs disappear or are modified. Still there are festival processions in Little Italy on Saints' Days for the emigrant. His child will have little to do with it.

A disintegrating and demoralizing element for the Italians in this country is the inadequate arrangement made by the Roman Catholic church for their church life. The Italians are but indifferent churchgoers at best—and they by no means enjoy having Irish priests over them.

The Union settlement reaches others, but not the most interesting work among the Italians in New York in a settlement way is that carried on at St. Rose's, a Catholic settlement whose headquarters are in the East Village. The settlement is doing much to create an interest among the Italian young people of her neighborhood for things worth while. The Italians are painstaking and industrious. They have the instinct for workmanship developed to a high degree. They make good day laborers because they work so continuously and so thoroughly. They are good artisans where they have chance. They are splendid agriculturists. They are naturally interested in form and color.

To be sure in our great cities we have as yet appealed to only a slight extent what the talents of the Italians are. We shall have to realize that we have a problem to solve before we can solve it.

As for now turn to the Jewish immigrant coming from Russia, Poland, Roumania, Galicia and parts of Austria. Here we have a variety of types and characteristics corresponding broadly to the countries from which they come, but all with the same stamp, the stamp of the dramatic history of their race. The Jew is never middle class, Philistine. He may be extraordinarily brilliant and attractive, or he may be repulsive and degraded. There never seems to be a via media. The causes of this quality of distinction are not hard to find. A history of separation from the world combined with the greatest cosmopolitanism has produced traits of great elasticity and of great power, elasticity to meet the wind from any quarter, power through a native intensity increased a thousandfold by the narrow channels, into which this intensity has been poured. Commerce and learning are the two paths which the Jew has trod for centuries. Narrowed to these opportunities, with his splendid native ability he has made the most of them. The learning of the middle ages owes its greatest debt to him. Spain's period of greatest culture was the Moorish Jewish period. The greatest names in every department of learning are associated with this race. This is no brilliant intermittent happening. It is the result of the centuries of culture which never ceased even among the most economically dependent. Even in those corners of Europe where the Jew has had for the most part no little opportunity to rise, there too exists a curious culture, most profound respect for learning. The Jewish consists chiefly it is true in the law; the Talmud; exposition and exegesis. It is the argument about the law that is even more attractive than the law itself. Even the poorest of the devout Jews know Hebrew and that is a difficult tongue to master. The children are put at it early and thus have a sense of mental discipline from the earliest years.

From their poor wretched towns these people have flocked to our shores driven by religious persecution. With the patience born of centuries of wandering, the Jew leaves his home for America. He hurries to his companions. The sweat shop awaits him. He joins the army of tenement house workers; but his soul is not with his work. He has not the instinct for workmanship in the manual sense in which the artist Italian has it. He uses his work as a tool. He works for 20 out of 24 hours without a murmur, but never forgetting to say his prayers, to light his Shabbas candles and to abide by the law. He has one ambition that his child shall get a good education. He will slave for him that he shall get it. He will help the public school teacher in every way. His child shall not miss a day of school. The fact of education only in as a part of the standard of life for the lower East Side Jew. He will save pennies that his gifted little girl may take violin lessons. The average length of time that the Jewish immigrant remains in the sweatshop is not more than three years. He intends to get out. He does get out into something better. Perhaps he runs a Kosher restaurant. The rise is astounding. I know of one instance where the son is now in an architect's office and the other son is about to be married. The good mother runs a restaurant. She has never learned to speak English, but she will not let her son bring his wife home to live with her, because she thinks it wouldn't be suitable.

The pious Jew meets the great shock of an unorthodox community. He comes from little villages where all alike revere the law. But here he finds Sabbath breakers, fellow countrymen who eat treph food with absolute unconcern, people who laugh at the holy days of religion. The break up of the old religion is very rapid. The second generation is practically without religion. The disintegrating and demoralizing effects of this breakdown of orthodoxy are but too apparent. Immigrants and their children considerate and kindly hypocritical. But often the break is open and tragical. Thousands and thousands of young people are growing up without positive religion or even definite moral instruction. Added to this difficulty the whole tenement house life of excitement, of lack of privacy, of noise and of a deteriorating morality, like an avalanche, threatens the moral existence of its victims. There is a sense in which the Jewish immigrant's child is becoming assimilated. He is master of English. He is first in his class in the schools. He is eager for a higher education and general culture. He is not a native, but he wants. Or if he is not ambitious intellectually he will be commercially and he will attain success in whatever line he chooses. He learns American customs, and even the ways of the world. He develops civic virtue at really quite an appalling rate. Often shifty, he exercises a power of choice and is no easy prey to the Tammany chiefs.

At yet with all this, there is a certain dignity that graced the old patriarch oblivious of worldly success if only he might obey and understand the law, that no assimilation is going to supply the place of the child died. Somehow or other that vast spiritual force ought not to go to waste. How shall it be developed? We face not only a problem but a duty.

One thing is in the question of the immigrant's child. There are certain forces in our large cities that make for healthy assimilation. There are also certain forces that are making for deterioration. Other than the public school system, which brings a certain strength, simplicity and conscience with it that is lost only too soon. We do not guard the newly arrived immigrant. We still present a laissez faire system in regard to him. Nor do we, except to a slight degree, acting consistently in our attempts to assimilate our foreign populations. Whatever evils the immigrants bring upon us are largely due not to them but to the conditions to which they are subjected. We make no allowance for special tastes and talents but put all through the same routine. We do indeed turn out a product assimilated to a certain degree, but at what a fearful cost. We allow the finer gifts of these immigrants to go to waste. We do not seek to conserve and develop, we seek only to obtain a dead level and for the most part we can congratulate ourselves on our success.

Let us review briefly the traits and tendencies of the Irish, the Jew, and the Italian and see if we cannot discover certain practical methods by which we shall avoid waste.

The Irish love life. They are content with existence. They see the paradox that if it is life we are after, and we have it, why should we be after it? Somehow or other then it is placed in a system of education, would emphasize among the Irish the ideas of ambition, work and stimulus, and that to a pleasure loving people substitutes for the grosser pleasures of the saloon must be sought for the girl's emphasis must be laid on thrifty and attractive housekeeping, and this can be made interesting through the native perception of the child.

The Jew will rise without assistance. He will make his way by sheer ability and energy. What he needs in our crowded lower East Side is the renewal of his moral sense, a spiritual revival. The Jewish sense is the most crying need in that quarter, and that will be aided by manual training, the applied arts and the enlarged conceptions that come through contact with nature.

The Italian especially needs a wider sphere for the development of his instinct for workmanship. While many will continue to work well and efficiently as day laborers, many others will find in the country as members of the artistic trades. There is one Italian plasterer's union already in existence in New York. The Italian child especially should have the opportunity for the development of his native tastes. I once heard Dr. Felix Adler brilliantly say "Our public schools should be talent saving stations." If the Irish child had to attain to the work of an Italian fellow classmate, he would already be on the road away from race antipathy. Where we admire we cannot despise. But if the public school system is so arranged that the child of the Irish, Jew, or Italian, the applied arts and the enlarged conceptions that come through contact with nature.

The tenement house problem must be solved. We must discover some means of relieving the congestion under which normal life is impossible. We must encourage labor organizations which tend to strengthen the industrial independence of the workingman. And we must work for a progressive city party with a definite program of municipal reform, one that party which lays claim to goodness as its special monopoly. Such a party repels the poor, attracts the weak and is doomed to a deserved failure. But a party that comes out to win the respect of the city, that wants are general enough. Tammany Hall itself will not oppose them, and a bigger hole will be made in the camp of the enemy than professional goodness will ever make.

The immigrant's child needn't worry us. But there is indeed a sense in which we ought to worry him. The immigrant is for the most part no detriment to our vast expansive elastic absorbing country. That he does not deteriorate is up to us. When we begin to put our American enterprise into the adventures of the social as well as into the practical of the economic life, we shall find a magnificent field open to us. More fascinating than the search for the North Pole is the determination to realize democracy. The Social Settlements are among the little outposts of the oncoming army. What an easy victory can be won when every soldier knows how to fight, and what he is fighting for.

A Valuable Medicine For Coughs and Colds in Children.

"I have not the slightest hesitancy in recommending Chamberlain's Cough Remedy to all who are suffering from coughs or colds," says Chas. M. Cramer, Esq., a well known watch maker of Colombo, Ceylon. "It has been some two years since the City Dispensary first called my attention to this valuable medicine and I have repeatedly used it and it has always been beneficial. It has cured me quickly of all chest colds. It is especially effective for children and seldom takes more than one bottle to cure them of hoarseness. I have persuaded many to try this valuable medicine, and they are all well pleased with myself over the results." For sale by all druggists.

A Child's Cry

Pierces the mother's heart like a sword. Often the mother who would do everything for the little one she loves, is utterly impotent to help and finds no help in physicians. That was the case with Mrs. Duncan, whose little one was almost blind with scrofula. But fortunately she was led to use Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and so cured the child without resorting to a painful operation.

The great blood-purifying properties of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery have been proved over and over again in cases of scrofula, eczema, eruptions, and other diseases which are caused by an impure condition of the blood. It entirely eradicates the poisons which feed disease, and builds up the body with sound, healthy flesh.

"My little daughter became afflicted with scrofula, which affected her eyes," writes Mrs. Agnes L. Duncan, of Mansfield, Sebastian Co., Ark. "she could not bear the light for over a year. We tried to cure her eyes, but nothing did any good. We had our home physician and he advised us to get her to an oculist, as her eyelids would have to be 'scraped.' They had become so thick he thought she would never recover her sight. As there was no one else to whom we could apply my heart sank within me. I went to your 'Common Sense Medical Adviser,' read your treatment on scrofula, getting the properties of medicines there advised. With five bottles of 'Golden Medical Discovery' I have entirely cured my child. Her eyes are now clear and bright. 'Hoping this will be of some use to you and a blessing to other sufferers, with heartfelt thanks, I remain,'"

Doctor Pierce's Pleasant Pellets are an excellent laxative for children. They are easy to take and thorough in action.

The marriage of Mr. Walter B. Claflin of Langley road, Newton Centre, and Miss Belle M. Stanley, took place at the home of the bride's parents in Swampscott, yesterday noon. Owing to the recent death of the groom's father the wedding was a quiet one, only the families and a few intimate friends being present.

Newton Centre Improvement Society.

At the annual meeting of the Newton Centre Improvement Society held last evening, Pres. William M. Noble proposed that when the Mason school was ready to be removed to give room for the new proposed structure, it would be practical to put it on a lot of Centre street, north of the S. F. Smith homestead. After it had been abandoned it could be remodeled to contain a swimming pool and municipal storehouse in the basement, a reading room and branch of the public library on the first floor, and on the upper floors a gymnasium. There could also be made provision for rooms that might be used as polling places and caucuses.

These officers were chosen: W. M. Noble, president; D. T. Kidder, Jr., vice-president; C. M. Goddard, secretary; G. F. Richardson, treasurer; Charles Copeland, auditor; Dr. G. L. West and Irving P. Paul, executive committee for three years, and G. F. Spaulding and J. Albert Cole executive committee for two years.

A program contributed by a young woman reader and a male quartet added much to the pleasure of the evening.

Victory for the Newton Street Railway Company.

In the cases of Dennis Creavin vs. Newton Street Railway Co., an action of tort to recover damages for personal injuries alleged to have been received while driving across the defendant's tracks at a point about opposite the head of Pine street, West Newton, by one of defendant's cars, and W. A. Connors, by his next friend, Patrick Connors, an action of tort to recover damages for personal injuries arising from the same cause as set out in case above, tried in the Middlesex Superior Court before Judge Aikin, the defendant won both cases.

M. J. Connolly and Robert Levi for plaintiffs; G. L. Mayberry and T. F. Kenney for defendant.

Needs of Auburndale.

In Society hall on Auburn street Thursday evening of last week an important meeting was held under the auspices of the Village Improvement Society. The principal subjects under consideration were increased mail facilities and the need of a playground. It seemed that about every phase of both subjects was clearly set forth, and every one must have gotten a pretty comprehensive idea of both subjects. It was finally decided to refer both matters to special committees to be appointed by the chair.

NEWTON LOWER FALLS.

—The large Italian settlement off Washington street Woodland, consisting of nearly a score of unoccupied wooden structures, the largest of which measured 20 by 30, was wiped out by fire Thursday afternoon of last week. The blaze was purely intentional upon the part of the Boston and Albany officials, who have arrived at the opinion that the vacant land is preferable to a large collection of shanties. These buildings were erected on the railroad property some years ago but of late have been without tenants, as their former occupants, Italian laborers, have found work and homes elsewhere.

Lasell Notes.

The Lasell Canoe club began its work this week.
Party to the symphony concert on Saturday evening.

On Saturday evening, also the girls of the Lasell missionary society held an entertainment. It began with an amusing "Minstrel song" by Lasell minstrels, in which the musical notes on the staff drawn on a sheet stretched across the stage were the heads of the singers behind, each face being seen through an oval opening in the sheet. Following this was a dialogue between two little girls playing at "Grown Up." But the most taking thing, perhaps, was "Cradle Songs of the Nation" sung by six girls in costume. A sale of popcorn, peanuts, frappe, and molasses candy, and a show of baby photo graphs followed. The receipts amounted to about fifty dollars and will be devoted to missionary uses.

On Sunday evening a small party attended the concert at Shawmut Congregational church the performance of Mozart's Requiem by the combined choirs of this church and the Second Universalist.

Miss Annie B. Eaton will give a reading at Lasell on Thursday evening, May 2, at 8 o'clock. Friends are welcome.

The canoe and the four were taken from the water. The canoe was lost and its boards, cushions, etc., dashed to pieces. The young men were removed to Mr. Hopkinson's home. All were greatly overcome and one of them came near dying. A physician worked over him an hour before he declared him out of danger. Early in the evening the young men left for their homes.
